Forest Preserve may expand near Antioch

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners will take final action Aug. 18 on the proposed purchase of two adjacent properties totaling 356 acres in northwest Lake County near Antioch for more than $8.8 million.

The purchase, if approved, would preserve several high-quality wetlands and woodlands, and protect nearly 95 percent of the 45-acre Pollack Lake.

The land acquisition committee approved buying the 281-acre Raven Glen farm and the 75-acre Timber Lake Park RV campground.

The two parcels border each other east of Antioch at Rtes. 173 and 45.

With the two proposed purchases, the Lake County Forest Preserve holdings have grown by over 1,142 acres and now encompass 21,936 acres.

"Individually, these properties are unique and perfect additions to the Forest Preserve system," stated Carol Calabrese, president of the Lake County Forest Preserves. "Together, they would create a large preserve ideal for wildlife habitat and for preservation of wetlands, woodlands and prairies. And, they would offer scenic views and endless opportunities for public relaxation and enjoyment."

Prior to 1998, the Raven Glen Farm was used for dairy operations that were once considered state-of-the-art for dairy production during the 1950s and '60s.

The property features gently rolling hills and woodlands and contains nine high-quality wetlands. It will allow for the restoration of prairie and savanna areas.

The site's largest wetlands are positioned along the northern edge of the property and extend onto the

At the Lake County Liquor Control Commission meeting, the owner of the Antioch Golf Club, 40150 N. Rte. 59, was fined $1,000 after he was found guilty of allegedly permitting the sale of alcohol by non-employees without a liquor license among other charges.

Bill Smith, owner of the club, was also found guilty of allegedly permitting the sale of alcohol to minors and

Party time!

Choosey Child combines fun, safety in a party atmosphere

By JULIE MURPHY

For years, parents with discriminating taste have made the Choosey Child the place to shop for their children.

This year the shop has undergone major revamping, and the one-time store is now the premier party and play place for children in Antioch and neighboring suburbs.

"The idea came to me when my grandson turned 1 year old, and no one wanted to have the party," said owner Barbara Porch. "There is a need for a safe place for kids to come for parties, or even just to play."

It took seven months to transform the store into the combination palace, playground and playhouse that it is today.

All of the walls are painted mural-style with 12 themed areas including favorites like the wild west, jungle, Barbie, Disney and Pokemon.

Special theme parties such as the twilight video challenge and Barbie's royal bash are available, or children (and their parents) can choose a party that includes all of the play and party areas.

"This isn't just a place for kids to have birthday parties," added Porch. "Sometimes it's nice to have a graduation party (preschool or kindergarten) or a 'just because' party."

As the second half of its name indicates, Party and Play is also open for children to enjoy an hour of play and dress-up during regular business hours when parties are not taking place.

"It's great for parents to be able to bring their kids to come and play for an hour. We all need to get out of the house and do something different for a little while," said Porch.

Part of the renovation included ordering a super soft, colorful, locking puzzle-type flooring rubber. "We had to special order the flooring to get just the right material in just the right colors," explained Porch. "We wanted something that would be very safe for the children."

H.O.D. Landfill clean-up to begin, public meeting set

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Region 5 (covering Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin) has approved the final clean-up design for the H.O.D. Landfill site in Antioch.

According to the EPA, the H.O.D. Landfill site is one of 1,300 sites on the National Priority List (NPL) which is among the worst of those on the Superfund list.

Mick Hans, spokesman for the EPA Region 5, said, "Sites are placed on the Superfund list when there is no one clearly responsible to take care of a site."

In this case, the EPA was the "lead" for the site, but Waste Management has stepped up with the efforts as a PRP, or potentially responsible party, this past year.

The work is scheduled to begin within days. Residents and business can expect to see construction vehicles and workers, in the required protective gear, north of Rte. 173 and east of McMillen Rd.

A meeting has been set on Aug. 23 from 6-8 p.m. at Village Hall so residents can discuss the project with representatives from EPA and Waste Management.

Hans said, "The purpose of the meeting is to let residents know what is going on."

The H.O.D. Landfill is a 51-acre site that operated as a landfill accepting municipal and hazardous wastes from about 1963 through 1984. By 1989 the landfill was closed, covered with a clay cap, and leachate (water mixed with waste) collection wells and landfill gas vents had been installed under EPA permit.

As of August 1999, there were about 14,300 people living within 3 miles of the site. About 40 private wells and 6 public water supply wells are in the vicinity and are used for domestic water purposes.

The site is adjacent to a freshwater wetland. Sequoit Creek is also adjacent to the landfill and flows into a series of lakes used for recreation.

'The beer people'

Lindenhurst family known for brew with labels celebrating Chain O' Lakes

By BRENDA BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

The 'beer people.' That's what our neighbors call us," laughed Landmark Brewing Company owner Max Ganong. "We are a brewing family. When my son Gavin was 10 months old, he threw the first handful of hops into our first vat."

Ganong, wife Tina and friend Denver Leturno are partners in a brewing company with a unique approach to marketing.

"We're not just entrepreneurs," Ganong said. "We don't sell beer with girls in bikinis."

Ganong's aim is for beer drinkers to say, "Hey, I've got a beer label that tells a story about where I live."

The company's first label, Chain O' Lakes, told a story about the area and its past. The second label, promoting their brew in Wisconsin, is called Millionaire Special, named after the train that brought the first millionaire businessmen from Chicago to Lake Geneva in 1871.

Ganong caters to his individual markets with more than pretty labels.

"We've made a decision to be responsible in every market we go into," the brewer said. His company has contributed to cancer fundraisers, among others. "When a child was hit by a car, we contributed a portion of every bottle sold at an Armanetti's store."

The first brew made by the company, Landmark Cream Ale (Chain O' Lakes Edition) was selected by Beer Across America, a "beer of the month" club. Each month the club sends selected brews to its members. Only 24 beers are chosen each year, out of over a thousand submitted samples.

"We were the August beer of the month," Ganong said proudly. Beer Across America rates beers on a points system. Ganong boasted that Landmark beat Bass by five points, and Guinness by eight points.

The ale was rated by the Beverage Tasting Institute, Inc. of Chicago. The institute pronounced Landmark Cream Ale "highly recommended."

In 1994, Ganong, employed by a major corporation in the medical technology field, bought a home-brewing kit with a friend. They started brewing their own beer.

"We had parties," Ganong recalled. "People said, 'Let's go to Max's and get some beer.' We couldn't keep up with the demand. We had a knack."

By 1996, Ganong and a friend from Harvard graduate school were calling manufacturers.

"We didn't even know what things were called," he said.

Ganong sought the paid advice of a well-known 84 year-old brew master, who helped him devise a recipe for his brew.

The first delivery of the Chain O' Lakes label beer was made on Dec. 18, 1999. The second label, the Lake Geneva label, came out seven months later.

"The plan is to make 24 labels," Ganong said. "Twelve each of cream ale and lager. We'll be selling 12-packs, with one of each label in the pack."

The beer company, which boasts it was founded in Fox Lake, "just a few steps away from the landmark 'beer can bridge,'" is brewed according to Ganong's recipe at a 143-year-old brewery in Cold Spring, Minn.

"We wanted a brewery with the experience and capacity in case this got big," Ganong explained. "This brewery has a 300,000 barrel capacity, about four times as large as Goose Island."

A year ago Ganong built a new home in Lindenhurst. Leturno, vice-president of distribution, now lives in the Fox Lake home where Lindenhurst residents Max and Tina Ganong, with son Gavin, run their family brewery business out of a shared warehouse in Lakemoor. The family, along with partner Denver Leturno of Fox Lake, market Landmark Cream Ale throughout the Chain O' Lakes area and Millionaire Special lager throughout Lake Geneva, Wis.—Photo by Sandy Bressner Ganong lived when the company was started.

"Vice-president of distribution means he drives the truck," Ganong laughed. In a small company, everyone wears more than one hat. Ganong's wife, Tina, runs the office end of the business from the couple's home.

"It allows Tina to stay home with our son," Ganong noted.

Even son Gavin, now 20 months old, helps out with packing.

The next project planned is a Fox Valley label lager.

"We haven't chosen a story yet," Ganong said. "It will be sold wherever the Fox River goes."

Landmark Cream Ale is currently available in a number of stores in the area, including Mr. T's Cardinal Liquors in Lindenhurst, as well as Nuttie's and Prime Time in Lake Villa. For a list of other retailers, or for information about Landmark Brewing, call 356-7042.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Resident anticipates outcome of hearing on land

Can't wait for the Aug. 21 Antioch Village Board meeting. It was announced as a public hearing on the annexation of the 55 acres on the southeast corner of Savage Rd. and Rte. 173.

That's the property that Neuman Homes has an option on and that was first offered as park land and as a school at the July 27 plan commission meeting. Neuman Homes is the developer proposing 1,308 houses on a 600-plus acre parcel nearby.

However, the annexation agreement worked out with the village tells a completely different story. No mention of either park or school, but rather, sales office, model homes, etc., and then after two years—guess what?—rezoned to R-1 permitting 114 more houses. Add this to the 1,308 houses Neuman Homes has planned for the nearby Anest property.

To complicate it further, the notice posted on the property says it's a public hearing to rezone from County AG (5 acres) to Village E-1 (1 acre). No mention of annexation.

Park, School, 114 houses—What will it be?

Marianne Guy
Antioch

Keep 'big box' stores out of Antioch

It is my understanding that the rural charm of Antioch is about to change forever. The owners of the agricultural property on the south corner of Grimm Rd. and Rte. 173 are requesting a zoning change in order to build a "big box" structure, such as Home Depot or Target. The property on the opposite side of Rte. 173 is apparently slated for major development as well.

The negative impact that this type of growth will have on Antioch will be tremendous. This development is too close to residential communities. According to the Dept. of Natural Resources, "Development for business and manufacturing purposes poses the potential for adverse impacts to Sequoit Creek and habitat." It will add to the traffic congestion on Rtes. 173 and 83. What will happen to our downtown and local businesses?

The Comprehensive Plan for Antioch states that "Antioch is a community with a pleasant small-town character and quality." It also states, "Some growth of the community is inevitable and even desirable, but it must be strictly controlled and fit into a carefully conceived plan—Loss of attractive natural areas, diverse habitat types, rural character and open spaces would reduce the desirability of the area and adversely affect the economy."

If our city officials are supporting major growth and development, which is not in compliance with Antioch's Comprehensive Plan, then they should be informing the people of Antioch of their intentions, asking for residents input and revising the plan.

"Big box" structures on the Rte. 173 corridor will change Antioch forever. Do we really want or need this? Please plan to attend the Aug. 17 Building and Zoning meeting at 7:30 p.m. to voice your opposition to this zoning change.

Nancy Lubkeman

Open house planned for academy

Progressive Movements Gymnastic and Tumbling Academy (PMGTA) located at 2506 Hiller Ridge in Johnsburg will be holding an open house on Aug. 18 from 7-9 p.m.

The open house will feature demonstrations of gymnastics and tumbling by PMGTA's competitive teams. In addition to the demonstrations, door prizes, tours and program information will be provided.

PMGTA will be celebrating one year in its new 15,000 square foot facility that is located just north of the intersection of Ringwood and Spring Grove Rd. in Johnsburg. The program began in 1997, with a small gymnastics facility in downtown McHenry, and expanded to provide more opportunity for the students.

"When we started in McHenry, we knew that we were going to have to grow with our students." Said owner Bob Kubin "Now we have a larger facility with higher ceilings, in ground trampolines, a full size competitive gymnastics floor and a full range of equipment for boys and girls. We wanted to invite community members to our open house, so they can see what kinds of programs we offer."

PMGTA provides classes in gymnastics and power tumbling for boys and girls of all ages. For more information on the Aug. 18 open house or PMGTA call (815) 759-1400 or access the gyms web site at www.pmgta.com.

Knirsch remembered by the community

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The communities of Antioch and Fox Lake remember Roberta (Selter) Knirsch for the wonderful contributions she made to these communities as long-time resident, teacher, author, artist and friend.

Knirsch, 77, died on July 29 at the Maple Wood Care Center in Streetsboro, Ohio, and was to be interred at the National Military Cemetery in Rittman, Ohio on Aug. 22.

Her survivors include her husband Mel, her son James, her daughter-in-law Susan, her granddaughter Christine and her grandson Glenn.

Roberta Knirsch, born Feb. 6, 1923, was the daughter of Walter and Mabel Selter, and lived in Antioch the majority of her life in Antioch until retiring to Ohio several years ago. She taught in the Gavin School

Dist. for 24 years as a sixth-grade teacher, was a founder and past president of the Lakes Regional Historical Society in Antioch, and was a 50-year member of the Order of Eastern Star Antioch Chapter 428.

Fellow teacher Carol Koules said, "I've known Roberta since 1968. She lived in a house on Grass Lake Rd. that was built by her great-great-grandfather and was a hotel in the Civil War."

Back in the days when there weren't many extra programs within the schools, Roberta Knirsch did many extra-curricular programs on her own in the areas of art and literature.

"Many people have come back saying how she really enhanced their love of literature or art," said Koules.

Knirsch: Wrote history of Antioch Township

"She was really a special person."

Roberta Knirsch's husband Mel said, "I was married to Roberta for 56 years, 8 months and 16 days. Our love started on Nov. 13, 1943, when Roberta was a student at the University of Illinois and I was a soldier in the air corp."

She later went on to receive her master's degree from Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn.

He added, "She was the perfect mate, a great mother and grandmother. To all she was known as a great lady."

"It's hard to think about condensing a person's life into a couple of written sentences," said Koules. "When I think of her, I think of her laugh."

PM&L reader's theater to be presented

Antioch residents Fran and John Jansta, Trish Zabauskas, Dee Baum, Josh St. John and Jay Aufman will participate in PM&L's next reader's theater presentation.

"Every Good Boy Deserves a Favor" by Tom Stoppard and directed by Fran Jansta will be performed at the PM&L Theatre on Aug. 20 at 2:30 p.m., and admission is free.

The story takes place in a Russian mental institution. It is about two patients—one who is mentally unstable and one who is a political prisoner.

Though the subject matter is serious, humor and music are used as the plot unfolds.

The performance will be done with limited costumes and sets, and with scripts in the hands of the actors.

The play will last approximately one half-hour. The audience can talk with the actors after the perfor-

the right artists to paint the murals on the walls. "I had been to the (Antioch Community) High School art show and remembered the names of some of the artists I was particularly impressed with," said Porch. "I was able to find their phone numbers and we hired them to do the job."

The talented teens Porch is referring to are junior Ryan Burgess, and Gina Galinis who has now graduated from ACHS. Though their painting styles are somewhat different, all of the painting works well together.

A typical party includes 60 minutes of playtime throughout the upstairs of the building with enough costumes and accessories to meet the whims of any child.

Children can let their artistic juices flow on the "creativity wall," and then watch themselves glow in the black-lit "glow room."

Following the hour of play, partygoers spend 30 minutes in the exclusive party room where the guest of honor is crowned and capped. Cake is served, and presents are opened (when applicable).

At the end of the 30 minutes, a bubble machine fills the room with bubbles and giggles signaling the children that it's time to get ready to go.

"It took a lot longer to get everything painted than we thought it would," Porch commented. "I had signs out front telling people to watch for the change. People were calling and wanting come in and set up parties well before we were ready to open."

Porch opted not to try and hurry the progress. She said, "My dad used to say, 'You only have one chance to make a first impression.'" remedial project manager for this site said, "The emphasis is to reduce the number of leachates that could migrate into the ground water."

According to the EPA's August 1999 report, the primary threat to human health is through the ingestion of vinyl chloride-contaminated groundwater. Vinyl chloride contamination has appeared in a monitoring well, nearby and down gradient of the site.

Murawski said, weather providing, the construction should be mostly completed by the end of this year, and the majority of the cleanup should be done by next spring.

From there, operation and maintenance will be done within a 30-year time frame to monitor ground water.

"Ultimately, the site will be de-listed," said Murawski. "It won't take the full 30 years before we begin looking at redevelopment."

Questions should be addressed at the scheduled meeting. Additional contacts are Jennifer Ostermeier, community involvement coordinator at (312) 353-0618; and Ron Murawski, remedial project manager at (312) 886-2940.

She said, "Ming was found guilty of selling liquor without a license at that location and for permitting the party where drugs were being sold. Selling alcohol to minors was dropped because there were no arrests or further action."

Additionally, Ming was denied a class A liquor license for that location because he was unable to prove he had permission to sell liquor

The 75-acre Timber Lake property is located on the west side of Rte. 45 just south of Rte. 173. It is currently being used as a campground and is scheduled to close on Sept. 30.

Timber Lake's terrain is also gently rolling with a variety of landscapes including mature oak and hickory woodlands.

The site borders the northern end of Pol-

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ANTIOCH

Suspended driver's license

Jayson D. Arocha, 21, of 1509 Lorelei in Zion, was arrested for driving with a suspended driver's license on Aug. 15 at 2:10 a.m. on northbound Rte. 83 at Grimm Rd.

Police observed a blue Ford cross over the fog line and onto the shoulder.

The officer stopped the car and requested the driver's license and proof of insurance of the driver.

Arocha handed the officer an Illinois identification card and was unable to provide an insurance card. Police ran his identifiers through LEADS/NCIC with his license coming back as suspended.

Arocha was arrested, transported to Antioch Police Dept. and put through booking procedures. He was issued citations for driving with a suspended driver's license, improper lane usage and for no insurance.

He was released on personal recognizance pending his Sept. 27 court date.

Zelma A. Simons, 53, of 25170 Park Dr. in Antioch, was arrested for driving with a suspended driver's license on Aug. 11 at 9:28 p.m. on eastbound North Ave. at Hillside.

Police saw a black Chevy Suburban without working taillights. The officer stopped the car and advised the driver of the reason for the stop.

The officer ran Simons' identifiers through LEADS/NCIC with her license coming back as suspended.

She was issued citations for driving with a suspended driver's license, and for driving without working taillights.

She was released on personal recognizance pending her Sept. 13 court date.

DUI

Luciano Ortiz, 27, of 701 Lake St. in Antioch, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol on Aug. 13 at 2:31 a.m. at the alleyway next to 389 Main St.

A police officer was dispatched to the area for a possible DUI. Upon checking the area, the vehicle was located facing north in the center of the alley as police approached from the south.

The officer saw Ortiz shift his car into reverse and proceed to back his vehicle into the east side of 389 Lake St.

Police ordered Ortiz to turn off the car. Ortiz said, "Okay," but put the car into drive as if he was going to pull away.

For safety reasons, the officer reached in, shut the vehicle off and removed the keys.

Police asked Ortiz to exit the vehicle. He fumbled through his wallet and dropped it on the ground when he was asked to produce his driver's license.

Ortiz was unable to complete a field sobriety test. He was placed under arrest and transported to the Antioch Police Dept.

Ortiz submitted to a breath test with a result of .23 blood alcohol concentration (BAC).

He was issued citations for BAC of more than .08, and improper backing.

Ortiz was released when a family member brought in proper bond.

LAKE VILLA

Minor possession of alcohol

Nicholas K. McDermit, 20, of 42273 N. Woodbine in Antioch, was charged by Lake Villa Police with possession of alcohol by a minor on Aug. 5 at 12:09 a.m. at Lehmann Park, where he had been drinking beer at the festival. A breath test showed a BAC of .07, just under the .08 legal limit for adults. He was issued a notice to appear at Grayslake Branch III on Sept. 13 at 3 p.m.

NEW BOOKS AT THE LIBRARY

Unveiled
Francine Rivers

Her name meant "date palm" and like her namesake, Tamar hoped to survive the harsh environment she was placed in—to bend but not to break. Rubbed with scented oil and arrayed in wedding finery, 14-year-old Tamar is thrust into a world of abuse, betrayal and disillusionment when she is given in marriage to an evil, idol-worshipping man. In the face of her suffering, she must make choices: Will she let her new husband, Er, destroy her innocence and corrupt her? Will she leave the religion of the Canaanites and embrace the God of the Hebrews despite the life of misery she is cast into? Or will she fall into despair and become as wicked as her husband and his brothers?

"Unveiled" is the first in award-winning veteran author Francine Rivers' Lineage of Grace series of five novellas, which feature biblical women in the genealogy of Christ: Tamar, Rahab, Ruth, Bathsheba, and Mary. This dramatic retelling of the scandalous risks Tamar must take to ensure her place in biblical history showcases Rivers' ability to sketch a short vignette of an ancient character and bring her to life in the minds of contemporary readers. The twin themes of sin's consequences and God's redemption resonate throughout the pages of this engrossing novella.

VFW Post 4551 gears up for 2001

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

To prepare for the coming year, the Antioch VFW Post 4551 took a trip to the annual VFW convention held in Springfield, Ill.

The convention was attended by posts and their auxiliaries from all over the country.

The Antioch Sequoit Post 4551 was well represented by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Oerly, Mr. and Mrs. Don Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lombardo, Mr. and Mrs. John Kurinec, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Jendras, Mr. and Mrs. David Gratz, Gloria Lear, Ruth Hickman and Rich Guzzo.

In addition to the necessary business that is conducted, there were pep rallies with tear-eliciting songs and a memorial service for all deceased members.

After the convention, the post and auxiliary members made a trip to the cemetery to visit the Korean War and Vietnam War memorials, as well as the Lincoln Memorial. The Antioch contingent left a poppy wreath at each monument.

With the closing of this convention, the newly elected officers take over for the 2000/2001 year.

The post is planning a bus trip north to the Korean Museum and to one of the Wisconsin casinos.

Veterans who may be eligible for membership in the VFW are encouraged to contact post commander Bill Oerly at the post located at 75 North Ave. in Antioch at 395-5393.

Woman's Club wins award

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Antioch Woman's Club (AWC) president Sue Allen reports that the club was busy and out of breath from running up to receive all of its awards at the Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs state convention.

For the 10th District 96 members and over category for 1999-2000, AWC received first-place awards for art, home life, international affairs, membership, tied with Lake Forest for newsletter, ways and means and "the three Rs."

In the same category, the club took second-place awards for education, leadership and legislation.

In the category of Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs state awards, AWC received first-place awards for conservation, international affairs (for the club's UN program) and the three Rs.

The club also won second-place awards for literature and performing arts, arts and crafts, special projects, continuing education, health, international affairs (for outreach for children) and international affairs (for special projects).

Third-place awards were received for both color me health and the community improvement program.

Member Sharon Oldenburger won a first place in the photography contest and a third place for natural history in the Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs State Awards-Art contest.

Carol Maplethorpe, chairman of the scholarship committee, presented scholarships to a number of Antioch Community High School seniors.

Jen Decker, Lance Liebert, Kelly Lindgren, Rachel Miszweski and Nilay Patel all received $500 each to be used at the college of their choice.

The $500 Lillie Petty scholarship went to Kaeleen O'Connell. This award is presented annually by AWC to a student attending the College of Lake County and is given in memory of Lillie Petty, the late wife of the late Dr. W. Petty who served as Lake County Superintendent of School for many years.

The annual school supply shopping ordeal

So how many of you found yourselves at the local discount store this week holding school supply lists in one hand, and brass knuckles in the other? Between the obnoxious mom with her cart in the middle of the aisle blocking the traffic flow and the spoiled little temper-tantrum throwing missy who was upset Mom wouldn't buy every Lisa Frank folder, pencil, ruler, eraser, notebook and lunch box ever produced—this shopping excursion was like a voyage on the Titanic, and you were about to abandon ship.

Some schools have begun providing school supply kits that can be ordered from the confines of your own home, but often the youngins want to pick out their pencils and whose picture will be on their folder, thus rendering the parents on a shopping excursion that pales in comparison to the Christmas frenzy.

So we take to the store with a list of supplies that will last approximately the first three days of school, after which little Susie will trade all her "to die for" pencils and Johnny will have lost the Pokemon folder he couldn't live without. The supply list we had was very specific in its description of selected items. We needed notebooks with a 120 pages, wide ruled. Every store I visited had 70 pages, 100 pages and 150 pages, I finally located 120 pages but they were college ruled.

"Write small," I told the sobbing child. We needed red pens, fine point. I searched every store in Lake, Cook and McHenry counties and could not find fine points.

Finally my brother-in-law rifled through some desks at work and midnight requisitioned three of the precious commodity—naturally I needed four. The list called for 15 pencils—they sell them in packs of 12. We needed five folders—they were four for $1. Johnny demanded the bright yellow three-ring binder he saw in the store flyer, of course they only had fluorescent purple left.

And why is it you can buy a box of markers for 99 cents, but the same box of "washable" markers is $3.49? And what is it with all the color choices? Classic, tropical, fruity, glitter, funky, or original. One box had eight markers, all various shades of pink—now you tell me which box you think my little Susie wanted. I'm trying to reason with this child that you can't color a picture in all pink. "Barbie does," was her reply. By that time my mood had swung to just shy of nasty and I replied, "Barbie is a blond bimbo."

I think store clerks should get hazardous duty pay for working in the school supply department. I often wonder if on the first day of school, teachers make the kids lay out all their supplies and grade them on how correctly they followed the directions. Moms everywhere would flunk supply buying 101 with flying colors. After fighting the crowds, elbowing crying babies and body slamming tantrum throwing little Billys, our mission was complete and the check-out counter loomed ahead of us with a proclamation of impending freedom. With the breath of fresh air just within our grasp, my youngest reminded me she needed new sneakers—that would mean a visit to the shoe department. I pondered the predicament, did a quick visual check of the bedroom closet floors at home and smiled. Thank goodness for hand-me-downs.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Lighting it up

While attending Eureka College some 10 years ago, I had learned in one of my general studies classes the meaning of integrity. The general theme revolved around the ability to look back at one's life with a feeling of satisfaction of what they had accomplished. In other words, very few regrets.

Well, a former Lake County resident, Dr. John Nash Ott, is perhaps one of those who fit the bill. Ott, who passed away in Sarasota, Florida not too long ago at the age of 90, is noted for many advancements.

His fascination with lighting and its effects has impacted us all in one way or another.

It all pretty much started with America's National Pastime—baseball. Today, more than 62 million people are regular fans, according to statistics compiled in the National League Green Book and American League Red Book. Furthermore, the game is so popular that the Census Bureau claims that 15 million people play baseball more than once a year. There are also 184,000 adult softball teams, 79,000 youth teams, and more than 20 million people who play the big-ball version of the game.

With this in mind, we don't think of the little things pertaining to why the sport is so popular. Enter Dr. Ott. It was almost 30 years ago that Ott was visited by Cincinnati Reds scout Red Bowen, who informed Ott that the undersides of the baseball caps worn by players were green. In turn, an aghast Ott knew that green light reflecting from the underside of the cap would certainly be detrimental to the players performance. Thanks to that brief conversation, the undersides of caps around the world are now mostly gray, a color that does not reflect light.

And for the record, the Reds had changed the color that year and the result was a World Series championship.

Although he started his adult life as a professional banker, Ott and his 'niche' with regards to light did not stop with baseball. He began his 'real' professional life working for Walt Disney with his ultimate focus of filming the famous sequences in which plants bud and flowers bloom in just seconds on the screen. These sequences were soon after featured in Disney's 'Secrets of Life' series.

To make plants grow indoors, Ott began experimenting with the formulation of day-light emulating lights to correct light deprivation nutritional deficiencies, which he dubbed 'mal-illumination.' Though many would remember Ott for the magical transformation of pumpkin-to-coach sequence in Cinderella, the field of photo-therapy and the healthful effects of sunlight became his life's work.

Ott had become the head of the Light Research Foundation and orchestrated research and educational programs up until his death. He had learned how to bring the benefits of sunlight indoors with the results from this revelation now being produced by Ott-Lite Technology.

For over 40 years, Ott had researched unique lighting technology. His works are demonstrated in one of his books, Health and Light, which sold over 3 million copies.

Ott's resume was decorated with numerous awards, publications, medals and lectures.

He helped revolutionize the uses of light and will be remembered forever as we all sample of his work everyday.

Lady Sequoit golfers ready for season

You would need a score card to recognize the 2000 edition of the ACHS girls' golf team. Gone are veterans Brittany Cable, Carrie Cybul, Karen Drengler, Sara Groh (two-time IHSA State Qualifier), Kristen Hungarland, Melissa Mitchell, Veronica Pazanin, Mary Stringer, and Elizabeth Vanlerberghe. Over the past two-year period, the Sequoits recorded 11-4, and 9-5 seasons, respectively. In 1998, Antioch advanced through the IHSA Regional Tournament to State Sectional competition. The current enthusiastic, but inexperienced Sequoits will need to mature very quickly in order to repeat the success of the past two seasons. Along with returning sophomore letter-winner Danielle Nielsen, the Sequoits are expecting immediate help from last year's junior-varsity team, which include seniors Nicole Astar,

Just the kind of guy he is

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Walking quietly but carrying a big stick, or in this case, a tennis racket, is a pretty accurate description.

Fact is, Antioch High's Jason Love didn't have to lend his spare racket to his opponent during the Urbana Tennis Tournament.

"He's just a classy kid who didn't want to win by default," said Warren High School Head Tennis Coach and Warren Tennis Camp Instructor Greg Cohen.

It happened when Love was playing in the Urbana Open Tennis Tournament last month as part of the Warren Township High School Junior Excellence Tennis Academy, where Love was a player as well as one of the instructors this summer.

His kindness almost backfired, though. "We just had a really good match going and I didn't want to stop playing," recalled Love. "He (my opponent) almost came back to win." Love wound up winning a tough three-set tiebreaker en route to the consolation title.

But that's just a portion of the message here.

Actually, his name speaks volume's-it happens to be how he feels about the game.

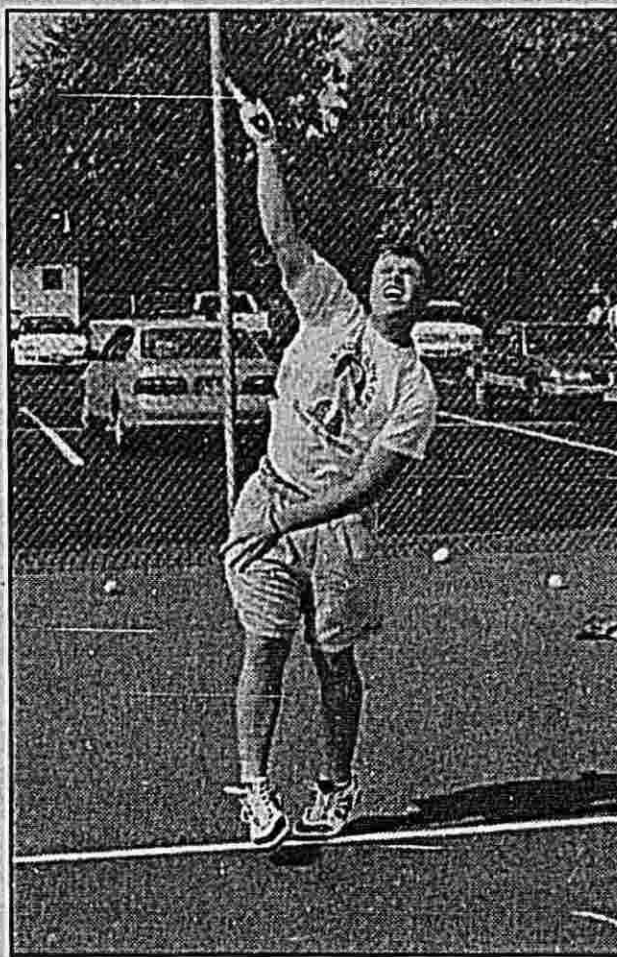

"I started playing seriously when I was about 11," reflected Love. "My father was one of the instructors and coaches at Lyons Township High School and that's how I pretty much got started. But I was kind of a late bloomer." Love's father, Dr. Jim Love, has of course since become the principal at ACHS.

"He really taught me a lot and made the learning the game a lot of fun," added Love. "I just love playing. I've been pretty satisfied with the results my first three years at Antioch."

And satisfied he should be.

Last season, Love was sizzling at the outset, winning his first 14 matches. He then cooled off a bit, finishing the year with a 20-10 record, which included his first appearance at the state tournament. Furthermore, he won almost every title at either No. 1 or No. 2 singles throughout the regular season.

"I figure I have one more year to prove myself," he said. "I was excited about qualifying for state but know I can do better. Overall, though, it was a pretty solid season."

In the meantime, Love has gotten some excellent off-season work playing and teaching at the Blue Devils Excellence Academy.

"He was a player here for a couple of years and we asked if he wanted to help with instruction," said Cohen. "He's been doing a great job. He makes the game fun while making you excel at the same time."

Love joined an excellent staff that included the likes of coach Bob Brothman, who has been Cohen's assistant on varsity the past five years. Prior to that, Brothman was the head coach at Waukegan and North Chicago High Schools.

Joining Brothman was former Blue Devil standout Jeff Fedor, who just completed a successful four-year career that was capped by being named captain and all-conference while playing at Winona State; and Scott Merzlicker, the No. 1 singles and doubles player at Marian College. Merzlicker was also an all-region soccer player.

Accompanying Love as high school instructors included: Blue Devil and two-time sectional doubles champion Todd Lazarski; 1997 girls' team MVP, Lydia Negele; Cheryl Defreese, a key player for the record girls team last fall; and, Mark Nelson, Warren's leader in victories as a sophomore last year.

"It's been great working with quality instructors in a quality camp," said Love. "The numbers continue to grow. We've drawn in a lot of people from all over, including Antioch. So it's helping our team as well as the camp and Warren in general."

Love will undoubtedly look to have a stronghold on the No. 1 singles position come next spring when the Sequoits take the court. He will be the only returning starter for a team that finished tied for fifth in the North Suburban and tied for second at sectionals.

"We should be OK," said Love. "We'll have at least two solid players back Mike Baba and Dave Thomas. The leadership should be pretty solid. We just want to keep building on what we accomplished last year."

And sharing the top spot last year with transfer student Magnus Boesen, who graduated a couple of months ago, has helped the competitive fire that burns inside Love.

"He (Magnus) is a tremendous player," reflected Love. "We also shared a lot of the same characteristics as far as the passion for winning."

As far as his game is concerned, "My serve and volley are kind of the old-style version," Love explained. "I don't have that 'big' serve but I can come in and hurt people at the net."

Until next spring, though, Love will look to play as much as possible, competing in smaller tournaments through the fall and winter.

"Practice makes perfect," he said.

And from the looks of things, sounds like he's closing in on that.

'Rally for a Cure' Breast Cancer Outing another success..

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

A winning combination—a good time was had by all and money was raised as part of the Third Annual 'Rally For A Cure' for Breast Cancer Golf Outing, held August 1 at Countryside Golf Course in Mundelein. The event is sponsored by the Lindenhurst Women's Golf League.

According to one of the events coordinators, Vera Tierney of Burlington, Wis., 30 players participated and monies raised were doubled compared to last year.

Roxanne Wichlin, the events main coordinator, said "We were very happy with the turnout. We raised over $2,400 and hope to gain more sponsors and keep growing with this in years to come."

The outing featured two closest to the pin winners. Barb Johnson of Lindenhurst and Diane Rogala, also of Lindenhurst, were the two winners. For their efforts, Johnson won a new bag cover while Rogala won a gift certificate for new golf shoes. The prizes were donated by "Rally For A Cure."

Meanwhile, the longest drive in the women's division was won by Laurie Wohlfeil of Gurnee while Lindenhurst's Bob Scherbach claimed the title in the mens division for the second consecutive year.

A special thanks are in order for the following $50 or more hole sponsors: Fairhaven Pharmacy, Architeria Landscaping, American Marketing, National City Bank, Ultimate Screen Printing, Ann Mazurski, Tierney Signs and Learning Resources. Additional thanks are also extended to Learning Resources employees and Mimi Denoma, whose monies collected totaled close to $1,000. The League would also like to pass along its appreciation to Tierney Signs for all sign work donated and The Card & Party Shop for donating the mulligan balloons.

Gratitude is also directed towards coordinators Roxanne Wichlin, Tracy Hermerstroff, Connie Neubauer, Vera Tierney and

Free admission offered by Lake Geneva Raceway Aug. 18

The price is definitely right! That's because Lake Geneva Raceway Promoter Kevin Dawson is extending a special invitation to Wilmot Speedway race fans and Kenosha County Fair attendees.

On Friday, August 18, Dawson, working with Andy Calin of Premier Racing Productions, Inc. which promotes Wilmot, is inviting any race fans that attended the Aug. 12 race program at Wilmot to attend the Friday program at Lake Geneva for free.

Individuals must present their grandstand ticket stub from the Aug. 12 Wilmot races and they will be admitted to the Lake Geneva grandstands free. In addition, Dawson has made the same offer to anyone who attends the annual Kenosha County Fair Wednesday through Friday, Aug. 16-18. Again, present the fair admission ticket stub at the Lake Geneva Raceway ticket window on Friday evening and be admitted to the grandstands at no charge.

The promotion allows persons who want to see some racing in the area, and who are normally fans at Wilmot, to see some racing action even though the Kenosha County Fair, for the second year in a row, will not have any oval track racing action for fairgoers.

Wilmot Speedway will host its traditional Kenosha County Fair Demolition Derby Championships on Sunday, Aug. 20, with sessions at 2 and 6 p.m. in front of the free grandstand.

In addition to the Friday racing program of BIC Cars, sport trucks, INEX Legend Cars, Millennium Late Models, a special 'dirt bowl' challenge has been issues to regular competitors from Wilmot Speedway. 'Cowboy Kevin' has arranged for the first five Wilmot drivers who either contact the Lake Geneva track office 262-248-8566 or come to the Raceway on Aug. 18 to be added to the BIC feature field and allowed to compete for the 'King of the Hill' title. This is being done in the spirit of friendly competition as Wilmot is a one-third mile clay oval and Lake Geneva is a one-third mile asphalt track.

LET'S GO RACING

Michael H. Babicz

Plans are to hold at least one other such event later in the season. Further details will be announced soon.

In track action Aug. 12 at Wilmot, it was The Original Outlet Mall/Shalom Interfaith Food Center Drive Night. Chuck Ostergaard of Wildwood won his first 20-lap IMCA modified feature in over a year. Ostergaard's stepson, Jason Hyerdall of Wildwood, finished second. Chris Ostergaard of Kenosha, Chuck's nephew, finished fifth. Modified heat wins went to Robb Shales of Bristol, Hyerdall, Chuck Ostergaard and Bobby John Hensley of Lake Villa. Lee Tibbitts of Hebron won the 'B' main which earned State Bank of the Lakes Junior Fan Kristin Morford $25 cash as she was 'matched up' with Tibbitts for the race. John Dost of Antioch won the 'C' main.

Tim Smith of Kenosha, in just his sixth night of oval track racing, won his first ever 15-lap WIMSA mini-sprint feature. 'Smitty' races motocross on Fridays at the Lake Geneva Raceway course located east of the oval track. John Peters of Round Lake Beach finished runner-up.

Randy Olson of Gurnee captured the overall Midwest Motorcoach School Bus Challenge crown in the inaugural event for actual school buses at Wilmot. Olson, one of the owners of the family run Olson Transportation of Gurnee company which also operates Midwest Motorcoach, avoided the disabled bus of Mike Ring which ran out of gas on the opening lap of the feature and sat in the middle of turn two for the duration of the five lap event. Randy held off a late charge from heat winner Matt McNeil, also from Gurnee, to win by less than a bus length.

The only repeat main event winner at Wilmot was Tony Schlei of Zion. The regular competitor in the Midwest Enduro Stock Car Series chalked up his sixth IMCA hobby stock feature win in as many starts. Heat winner Lonny Roy, also from Zion, finished second.

Schlei said winning is getting 'kind of borrowing,' and he is in hopes of more cars competing in the division soon. Schlei admits he will miss the next IMCA hobby stock program at Wilmot on Sept. 2, as he will be competing that afternoon in the enduro series event at Madison International Speedway in Oregon, Wis. Good news for the rest of the hobby stock competitors.

Wilmot's oval track is off until Saturday, August 26 for The After The County Fair Championships featuring the Interstates Racing Association Outlaw Sprint Car Series and the IMCA Modifieds.

Fans and competitors made contributions to the Shalom Food Center on Aug. 12 at Wilmot. Andy Calin announced the extension of the food drive to include the week of Aug. 21-27 at The Original Outlet Mall in Kenosha and at Wilmot Speedway during the fair and on Saturday, Aug. 26. Call the track office 847-395-0500 for further information or to arrange for dropping off a donation.

In Lake Geneva Aug. 11 action, Butch Aisen of Woodstock captured the LeMans style started BIC feature for the first career main event victory for the second-generation driver who is tied for the season championship point lead. Dale Gustum of Round Lake Beach won the semi-feature and a heat race while Nick Kalties of Lake Villa was fast qualifier.

Jim Morrison of Antioch won the mini-modified feature with heat and dash winner Dr. Ken Johnson of Paddock Lake, the racing dentist from Antioch Dental Center, second. Doc's performance moved him into a 25-point lead in the season championship standings pending the next mini-modified event on Aug. 25.

A third generation 17-year-old Erik Darnell of Park City scored a win in the Wisconsin Allison Legacy Series car feature, finished second in his heat race, and won the dash. Erik is the son of Danny Darnell, a super late model competitor at Lake Geneva, and grandson of Bay Darnell of Deerfield, who is in semi-retirement, but still competes upon occasion. Bay was a former modified and USAC stock car competitor.

Landry Potter of Genoa City won the Millennium Late Models feature.

On Aug. 12 at Lake Geneva, Al Schill of Franklin scored the super late model feature victory. Don Collins of Trevor won a heat race and the semi-feature. Mike Simon of Grayslake also won a semi-feature with Joe Fischer of McHenry taking a heat win.

Jeff Lane of Knightstown, Indiana scored the win in the Incar Modifieds first-ever appearance at Lake Geneva. Lane's win came just prior to rain, which washed out the sport truck and super stock features. Prior to the rains, Doug Peterson of Antioch won the semi-feature with Craig Mertes of Antioch and Pete Olson of McHenry among the super stock heat victors. James Olson of Woodstock took the sport truck heat.

At State Park Speedway in Rib Mountain, just west of Wausau, Jeff Muellsmans of Kaukauna captured the 250-lap Midwest Enduro Stock Car Series event on the afternoon of Aug. 13. Jay LeBrun of Gurnee finished in the top ten for the 'B' class.

This weekend marks the traditional CART Championship Series event at Road America in Elkhart Lake, Wis. In addition to the Motorola 220 on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 20, for the CART FedEx Championship cars, a Trans Am event is planned for Saturday afternoon, Aug. 19. A Kool Toyota Atlantic Championship Series race will be held on Sunday morning with a Skip Barber Series event and Dodge Neon Celebrity Challenge event planned Sunday afternoon following the CART race. For further information phone 1-800-265-RACE.

The IRA Outlaw Sprint Car Series resumes action with a doubleheader. On Friday, Aug. 18 the IRA will be at The Raceway at Powercom Park in Beaver Dam, Wis. IMCA modifieds are on the program as well. On Saturday, Aug. 19, the IRA will be at Sheboygan County Fair Park Speedway in Plymouth along with Midwest Sprint Association 360s. Time trials each night are at 6:30 p.m. with racing to follow.

IRA pointleader Joe Roe of Pleasant Prairie, originally of Zion, had a decent showing at the annual Knoxville Nationals in Iowa. Roe was the highest finishing local competitor placing 17th in the 'C' feature out of well over 100 entries for the four-day event.

Until next time, tune in 6-7 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 22, for a special edition on WKRS 1220 AM 'Let's Go Racing Motorsports Report.' Victory interviews from Road America and more are planned.

Antioch makes major Waves at conference meet

After an outstanding performance in Rockford at one of the several American Divisional meets, the Antioch Waves Swim Team sent 37 of its swimmers on to Woodstock for the North central Illinois Swim Conference. Those teams attending were: DeKalb, Dundee, Cary, Elgin, McHenry 1, Rockford, Oswego, Geneva, Woodstock, Trails of Algonquin, Plum Grove, Crystal Lake, McHenry 2 and Antioch. The top six swimmers in each event from various divisional tournaments in Northern Illinois competed. Medals are awarded to the top six places per event, while ribbons for the seventh-12th place winners. Coaching the Antioch Waves swim team includes head coach Mike McDonald along with assistant coaches Kit Dickson and Kirsten Ihlen.

Outstanding swimmers for the Antioch Waves at Conference included six-year-old Dominique Bessette, who claimed first-place in the six-and-under 25 freestyle. Bessette's time also earned her a record-breaker plaque for the Antioch Waves team records. Two events later, with very little rest, Bessette competed in the eight-and-under 50 freestyle, finishing ninth place with a time of 41.52. She also competed in the eight-and-under 25 breaststroke, finishing sixth overall with a time of 23.97.

Stefanie Leafblad scored a personal best time in earning a second-place medal for the 11-12 girls 50 breaststroke. Her time was 35.82, also placing her on the record-breakers for the team. Leafblad also placed fifth in the 100 individual medley (1:11.86) and broke her old team record in the 50 backstroke with a fourth-place time of 34.20.

Coming in third place overall in the eight-and-under boys 25 backstroke with not only a personal best, but a team record breaking time of 20.83, was Chris Thayer. Thayer also placed in the 25 freestyle. First-year swimmer, Dylan McCurry, capped off an incredible season by placing fifth in both 25 freestyle (16.81) and 50 freestyle (37.59), breaking the old eight-and-under team record for the 50 freestyle.

Other swimmers who deserve recognition are team record holders Tony Carr and Taylor Pechauer. Both had outstanding times in the 50 breaststroke, 200 individual medley and 50 butterfly. Both 13-14-year-old swimmers have been team leaders over the years and look to be a real threat next year.

The eight-and-under swimmers also turned in solid efforts this season at the divisional and conference meets. Both relays placed in the top six with outstanding performances by Bessette, Howard, Rakosnik and Steffen for the girls. For the boys, Lancilotti, McCurry, Prather and Thayer were standouts this season. Many of these swimmers are first-year swimmers and have improved immensely on their times over the last two months.

And, Joey Schulze and Bret Prather, who both have worked so hard over these last couple of months, earned sixth-place medals for their events. The 9-10-year-old Schulze has been with the team for three years and was outstanding in the 100 IM (1:30.43) and 50 butterfly (43.29). Meanwhile, Prather helped Chris Thayer broke the old 25 backstroke time (21.94) in placing sixth.

Overall as a team, over 75 percent of the swimmers improved their times in their events at conference, earning personal best ribbons. This is an improvement in less than one week's time.

"Jump-Start Your Child's Academics by Enrolling in Lil'Dragons™, TaeKwonDo or Hapkido Lessons Now!"

Summer is just about over and soon School will start. The question is how to fight the summertime "Brain Drain." Studies show that an unproductive summer can actually interrupt a child's ability to focus, concentrate and learn when they return to school. After all most kids spend their free time playing video games, laying around at the beach or hanging out at the movies.

You can prevent this from happening to your child by enrolling them in Lil'Dragons, TaeKwonDo or Hapkido at Lionheart Martial Arts. The lessons we teach are mentally and physically challenging, which give children a positive release for all of their extra energy. Plus, they'll have a blast doing it!

A child's thunderstorm of terror

Hi Dr. Singer,

My 8-year-old son is terrified of thunderstorms. Several years ago, we had a very bad one in our area and we had some minor damage to our house. He hasn't been able to get over it. When thunderstorms are expected, he gets very anxious and is afraid to even go out. How long should this take to go away? We are patient with him, but worried for him and don't want to do the wrong thing. C.V.

Hi C.V.,

I will answer this one not only from a professional standpoint, but a personal one. I, too, have gotten past this and I will explain why and how in a moment. First, I will say, that you must have patience with this. Different people get over it in different ways and in different time periods. Thunderstorms can be violent and terrifying and while we don't want to have us or our children hiding under the bed each time one comes along, we also want to have respect for the severity one can take on and be prepared ahead of time.

I will first tell you of my experience and then share with you how I got over it so you can try this with your child.

In the summer that Saddam Hussein set all the oil wells on fire, we had some weird weather around here. I remember that people were blaming the weather patterns on the oil wells. Regardless of what started them, I had a harrowing afternoon at a local restaurant.

The storm that caused my experience was referred to as a "Microburst." I have heard these compared to atomic bomb

PARENT'S PLACE

blasts and I can attest to the fact that this is what it feels like. I sat in the restaurant, helpless as a portion of the roof got ripped off over my head and thrown across the parking lot to land in front of the window I was in front of. Needless to say, I was panicking pretty heavily as were all the people in the restaurant. This particular restaurant was surrounded by windows. To top it all off, we were trapped in the building by the wind and could not get the door open to get out. A gas main had been ripped and the restaurant was filling with gas. During all of this, I had no idea whether my family was OK or not. Before or since, I cannot think of anything more terrifying that I have gone through.

Thank the good Lord above, I was safe, my family were all safe and no one was hurt—physically, that is. For years afterwards, I could still hear the sound of the roof ripping. I became an avid weather channel watcher and didn't make plans in the summer without knowing the exact weather. I would cancel important things because of weather. Now, sometimes, it was a very good thing. In fact, people thanked me over and over again because of my "intuition." That "intuition" was really nothing more than being careful to know what was predicted. Storms or even the prediction of strong storms would create huge anxiety in me and during the storms, I would not be breathing correctly. I had all the symptoms of panic when these storms would happen. My reaction was unresponsive to reasoning, even within myself. I knew that most storms didn't do that, yet the conditioned response to that horrific event was overwhelming and still happened.

Here is how I got over it. I started keeping track in my mind of how many storms we would get through with no damage, no injury, no major scares and no major problems. As I started to keep track of it, I started realizing that the great majority of predicted storms never came or weakened in intensity before they did and of those that did get here—the majority really didn't hurt us!

I would condition myself to feel more relaxed each time I would realize that. Afterwards, of course, I still would thank God for getting us through another one. Another thing I did was tell myself all the great things the storm was doing. I am an avid gardener and would think about the fact that the lightning helps to release nitrogen into our atmosphere which helps everything get green and how wonderful that was for all the vegetation out there.

Also, of course, how wonderful the rain was for the plants and grass and trees. I would think of all the beneficial parts of the storm. I would also be reasonable about watching the weather. I felt and feel now

Crohn's disease usually treatable

Dear Dr. Donohue: Our 29-year-old grandson has Crohn's disease. He had diarrhea for several weeks. He was getting dehydrated, so they took him to the hospital. That's when the diagnosis was made.

What is this disease? What causes it? Is it curable? Should he be on a diet? — M.F.

ANSWER: Crohn's disease and ulcerative colitis are inflammatory bowel diseases, meaning the lining of the digestive tract has become raw and irritated. In Crohn's, small ulcers form that can burrow through the intestinal wall and into adjacent tissues or organs. Those tunnels are called fistulas.

Diarrhea is expected when the digestive tract lining is raw and inflamed. Food rushes through it without being absorbed. People lose weight. Crampy abdominal pains are frequent.

Cortisone drugs — prednisone being the most popular one — calm the irritated tract. Pentasa, a medicine also used for ulcerative colitis, has a good reputation for controlling Crohn's disease. Remicade is one of the newest treatments for Crohn's. It neutralizes inflammatory chemicals that the body has made. Those chemicals are responsible for Crohn's intestinal disruption. Remicade is infused into a vein. The infusion takes about two hours and can be done in the doctor's office.

TO YOUR HEALTH

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Cure is too strong a word for Crohn's disease, but control is not.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I was recently diagnosed with diverticulosis. I was informed that treatment consists of an over-the-counter bulk-forming agent. I followed the advice, but I have up to three bowel movements a day. I fear leaving home lest I have an accident. — J.B.

ANSWER: Diverticular are pearl-sized protrusions of the intestinal lining through the intestinal wall. With too little bulk (fiber, roughage, whatever you want to call it), the undigested food residue dries, and the intestine has to generate great force to keep the residue moving down the tract. The force that moves dried food residue also causes diverticula. Call the doctor. I am certain that the bulk forming agent will be crossed off your treatment plan. You don't need it, since you have three bowel movements a day.

Dr. Donohue regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but he will incorporate them in his column whenever possible.

that it is smart to be informed about weather watches so you don't get caught with your galoshes down. In fact, that was one of the good things that came out of the experience. I was never going to be caught in an unprepared position again. We have an organized plan of action in our home for dangerous storms, just like schools have drills for fire and dangerous storms. This helps all of us to feel in control of the situation and comforted.

These are all things that helped me get over it and should also help your child. I tell you this experience I had because I want you to know that even a Psychologist can have post-traumatic type fears after a terrifying event like that. Your son has also been through a terrifying event and it will take some time for him to heal.

Above all, don't get angry at him for being afraid. We all heal in our own time. Also, realize that on the fear list, thunderstorms are a "biggie" among many adults I have spoken with. It is not illogical to be afraid of them. In fact, the fear is there to help you survive. Without it, you might walk outside in one of these "doozies" and really get hurt.

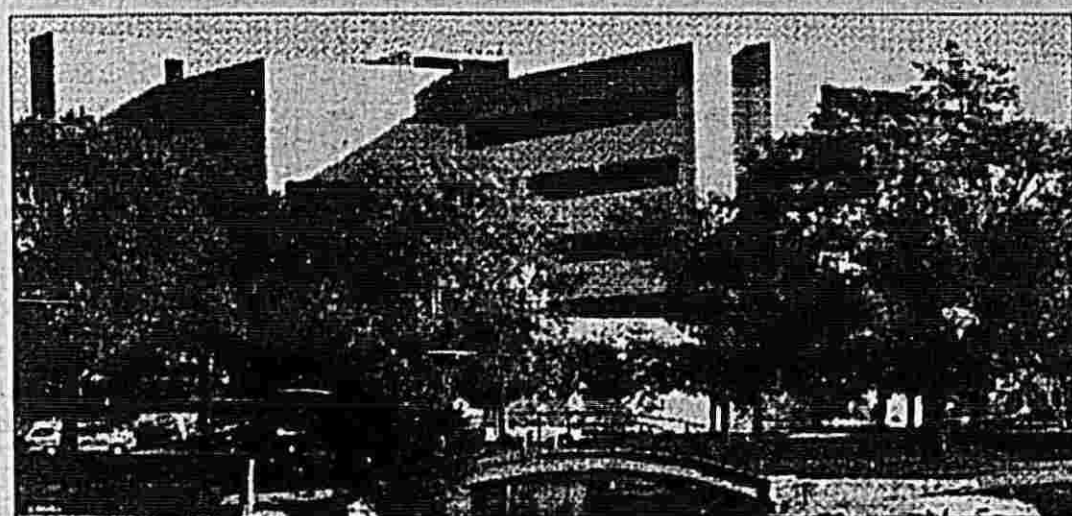

Thanks for letting me share that very scary time in my life with you. I hope it helps your son!

COUNTY DIGEST

Recorder launches voter drive

Lake County Clerk Willard HeLANDER has announced a countywide voter registration drive, which will take place on Aug. 26. Anyone wishing to register to vote in Lake County or re-register due to changes in their name and/or address can do so from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. at most Jewel-Osco locations in Lake County. For more information, contact director of elections Colleen Conarchy at 360-5928.

Department honored

The Waukegan office of the Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS) has been honored for its achievements, after being given an accreditation plaque by the director of the DCFS. In 1996 DCFS began a statewide accreditation process, which means an agency given such an award had met the highest national standards of child welfare practice. They (DCFS) are only the second statewide agency in the country to be given this honor.

Benefit set for deputy

Don Nelson, a 33-year-old Lake County Sheriff's Police investigator, will be the beneficiary of a fund-raiser on Aug. 26 from noon-midnight at Stratford Banquets, 54 S. Seymour Ave. in Grayslake.

Nelson was paralyzed in an accident earlier this year, and his wife is currently undergoing chemotherapy treatments for cancer.

A $10 donation is requested for admission, and food and drinks will cost extra. Tickets to the event are available at the Libertyville White Hen at the corner of Rte. 21 and Winchester Rd. in Libertyville, and at the Shell gas station on Hainesville Rd. in Round Lake.

Family and friends of the Nelsons ask that any additional donations at the event be made payable to the Nelson family, and can also be sent to Consumers Credit Union, Attn: New Accounts, P.O. Box 9119, Waukegan, IL 60085.

Meeting audience questions lack of notice

By SANDY HARTOGH
Correspondent

Several commissioners of the Lake County Forest Preserve found themselves in an uncomfortable situation when an alleged public meeting verged on becoming an illegal meeting in accordance with the Illinois Open Meetings Act.

According to forest preserve President Carol Calabrese, staff was directed to send public notice in regard to a special meeting she called concerning the Middlefork Savanna Forest Preserve in Lake Forest.

Calabrese stated that she signed off on the public notice immediately after an Aug. 8 meeting of the Development, Restoration and Planning Committee. Members of the committee had unanimously voted on a motion to change the location of a portion of a proposed nature trail that would run through the savanna along the Des Plaines River.

Commissioners Sandy Cole (R-Grayslake) and Al Westerman (R-Waukegan) contend that they were verbally invited by Calabrese to come out and view, with staff and two other commissioners, the controversial site. They stated that they had not received written notice of a public meeting, nor had the press or other forest preserve commissioners they had contacted. (Lakeland Newspapers did not receive written notice, but was verbally contacted by a reliable source about the meeting).

"I honestly don't know what happened to the public notice," said Calabrese. "Maybe everyone thought someone else was taking care of it, but that is still no excuse."

When Cole, Westerman, Martha Marks (R-Riverwoods) and Carole Spielman (D-Highland Park) arrived at the meeting place, they found representatives from several environmental agencies as well as Lake Forest Mayor Howard Kerr and concerned neighbors milling about. State Rep. Susan Garrett (D-Lake Bluff) was also part of the Lake Forest group that was apparently waiting to discuss the development committee's decision to change part of the trail.

"As president, Carol Calabrese can call meetings," explained Cole who is head of the development committee. "But when a majority of quorum is present to discuss business without prior public notification, it constitutes

Many things brewing for entrepreneur

Second outlet, purchase of business make woman her own supplier

By SANDY HARTOGH
Correspondent

For most folks, spare time is a luxury that encompasses everything from sharing time with loved ones to indulging in solitary hobbies.

Grayslake entrepreneur Linda Scholz usually runs into "trouble" when she has the rare treat of spare time on her hands.

"Spare time is when I get myself in trouble and open up another shop," quipped the successful owner of the downtown Grayslake coffee shop "Something's Brewing."

Scholz obviously found some extra time between running the popular coffee shop on Whitney St. and her "Uniquely Sweet" candy store in Buffalo Grove to embark on yet another project. She has just opened her second "Something's Brewing" in the new Washington Square strip mall on Washington St. just west of Rte. 45.

On her first "unofficial" day of business at the second location, Scholz said her shop attracted about 200 customers. She purposely told no one of her plan to open the eatery the day before its advertised grand opening because she believes in "making good first impressions."

If her first-day tally is any indication of future patronage, "Something's Brewing" No. 2 will most likely exceed the daily average of 400 at the downtown location, particularly when the fall schedule of classes get under way at the College of Lake County.

Although the Washington Square location is smaller in square footage than the downtown location, it offers a larger customer area with almost

Commissioners confident on chances for referendum

By SANDY HARTOGH
Correspondent

Lake County voters will be besieged by numerous school referendums on the November ballot, and yet the Lake County Forest Preserve is proposing another multi-million dollar referendum for more land acquisition.

"We are getting more and more requests from property owners who want the forest preserve to purchase their land for preservation purposes," said commissioner Al Westerman (R-Waukegan). "We are already running low on acquisition funds that were voter approved in 1999."

In April 1999, $55 million was approved by 66 percent of county taxpayers to support the forest preserves efforts to purchase open space and fund restoration projects.

According to an independent study conducted by Richard Day Research Inc. of Evanston, 63 percent of the 505 county households interviewed supported a potential $85 million referendum to buy and protect additional open space along with restoration projects maintenance and operation of new forest preserves.

"We know that it's so soon after the last referendum, but people are feeling the horrendous pressure of another open field being turned into a subdivision," commented forest preserve President Carol Calabrese. "Landowners who are proud of their property want to leave a legacy for the public to enjoy."

The forest preserve has acquired over 2,500 acres of land since 1993. Within that time, thousands of acres of natural habitat have been restored in deference to the many endangered species of plant and animal life that reside in Lake County.

The proposed referendum, if approved, will result in a property tax increase of $19-$29 for a $200,000 home. Although this amount will burden taxpayers that much more if school referendums are passed, in the long run land acquisition could hinder the county's development and therefore slow the growth in bulging school districts.

Calabrese does not believe placing the referendum on a ballot already crammed with requests for educational funding will jeopardize its success.

"I think that with the growth we've seen in Lake County, there will never be an election without some type of school referendum. There is no ideal time to put this referendum out there," she said.

New commander returns to duty at Great Lakes

A 34-year Navy career officer who spent part of his youth in Lake County took over as new commander of Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

Rear Adm. David P. Polatty III succeeded Rear Adm. Edward E. Hunter during the time-honored change of command ceremony before a large audience that included members of his family and former shipmates in his distinguished service as a naval aviator and ship commander, including commanding officer of the aircraft carrier USS Independence.

Admiral Polatty, silver-haired and possessing a warm smile, was described as the "right man" to head Great Lakes by Vice Adm. John E. Craine Jr., chief of Naval Education and Training, who spoke at the ceremony.

Explaining that the mission of Great Lakes is vital to U.S. national security, Adm. Craine spoke glowingly of Rear Adm. Edward E. Hunter, who had commanded Great Lakes since Oct. 24, 1998. Hunter departed for sea duty in the Caribbean.

The senior officer praised Adm. Hunter for setting a tone of dedication at Great Lakes to indoctrinate and train young sailors. Hunter was lauded for reducing attrition, reducing recruit accidents and launching a $750 million building and facility modernization program.

"Admiral Hunter was an excellent

Program reveals glowing outlook for business retention, expansion

Buffalo Grove's Company Visitation Program concluded with 31 companies (manufacturing, commercial and retail establishments) being interviewed using a specialized survey provided by Lake County Partners.

Buffalo Grove's objective was to be proactive in assessing how local companies view the community as a location to conduct their business. Call teams were recruited by Ghida Sahyouni, Assistant Buffalo Grove Village Manager, and were trained to conduct the survey by Lake County Partners' staff.

According to the survey, 19 Buffalo Grove companies plan an estimated future dollar investment of nearly $85 million over the next three years, which means over 2,000 new jobs or a 61 percent potential percentage increase in their current employment. Estimated new space requirements are estimated at 632,000 square feet.

Work Force Evaluation (29 respondents) resulted in rankings (high to low) being productivity, quality, stability and availability.

Twenty-eight responses analyzed by Lake County Partners highlighted perceptions of the community's strengths and weaknesses, and one immediate retention issue was uncovered and is currently being addressed. Buffalo Grove has responded to the companies on the local concerns that were raised while broader (Lake County) issues will be channeled to the appropriate Lake County Partners committee. Depending on the concern, policy will be formed and county and state resources will be approached on an informed and documented basis.

Computer Doctor 'operates' at County Fairgrounds event

Technician Randell Durk snaps on his special anti-static wrist strap. The audience murmurs as he carefully splits the computer case open, looks inside and pronounces it...upgradeable!

Durk, of Lake Forest, is an A+ certified computer technician. He has just made one man very happy by telling him the main circuit board (or motherboard) in his old PC clone is upgradeable and able to give him service for more years.

He has provided this diagnosis during one of his free "Build Your Own Computer" seminars at the Computer Country Expo, held monthly at Lake County Fairgrounds in Grayslake. These free seminars usually run from 10 a.m. until noon. The next one is slated for Saturday, August 19. In two short hours, Randell and his seminar students will build a computer from the ground up, using parts from vendors at the show. He will explain all the components, offer safety tips, and answer questions from the audience. At tables on the side, other A+ certified technicians will make on-the-spot repairs and assemble purchased computer parts for a reasonable fee.

It's a win-win situation. Randell provides certified technicians at a reasonable price, and the technicians gain experience and hone their skills as they do the work. An A+ certified technician is trained and then tested on repair and installation of computer parts. This enables him or her to open computers and repairs or replace parts without voiding the warranty.

And the free seminars? "I do that to kind of give back to the community," says Randell, who was bitten by the computer bug in his late teens. He watched a family friend take apart an old Tandy computer with a cassette storage system, and was hooked after that. Since then he has built hundred of systems. "My waking hours are spent on computers," says Randell, who has eight at home. This is his own personal computer network.

When he's not teaching, Randell works for Sphere Communications in Lake Bluff. He is considering adding more seminars to his monthly Expo schedule because they are so popular. "People want to know how things work. By coming to the seminar they get a foundation," says Randell. "Building your own computer is a great way to learn as well as being cost effective." He says most brand name computers are designed to be obsolete in two years, so an owner will have to buy a new one in order to upgrade. If they build it themselves, the memory, motherboard and processor can easily be updated. This saves money because building it yourself will cost about half the cost of a name brand and it won't have to be completely replaced in a couple of years.

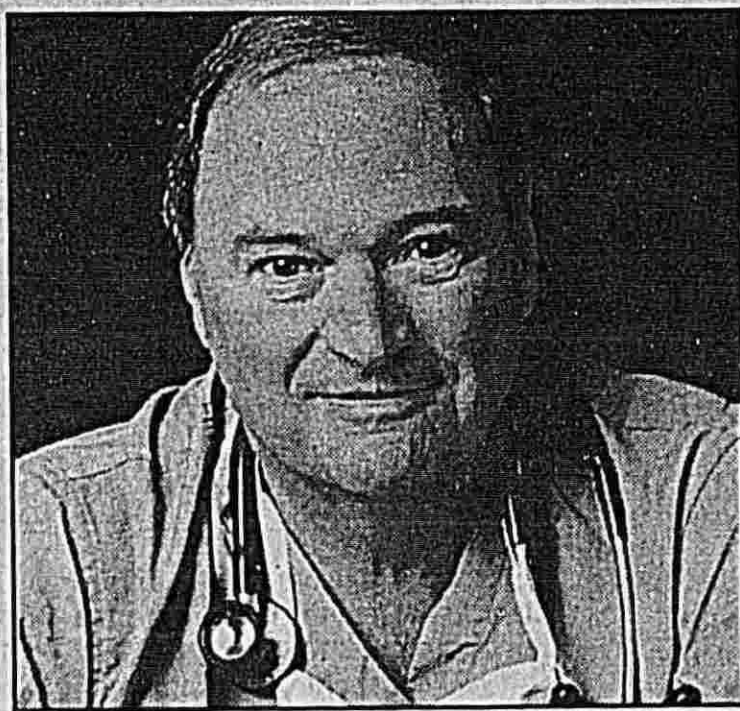

Randell's years of experience come in handy when he answers questions on building or fixing computers. He really emphasizes safety. Lots of people come in with their computer new in the box and ask to have it set up. "The biggest concern is not damaging delicate internal parts while you are working and being able to install equipment properly," he notes.

He has some advice people should consider if they are going to work on their own computer. Most personal computer hard disks store information in magnetic format, making them vulnerable to static electricity. Make sure the computers on a carpeted floor, and wear an anti-static wrist strap. "Electrostatic discharge is the biggest destroyer of computer parts," says Randell.

The Computer Country Expo is the only computer show of its kind in Lake County. With more than 80 vendors, one can find any hardware or software, from motherboards to monitors, digital camera to scanners. Last years about 3,000 people attended.

Whole-Hearted Care

"Patients don't care how much you know until they know how much you care."

Philip A. Faraci, MD
Medical Director, Condell Heart Center

At Condell, we hold your hand while we heal your heart.

In matters of the heart, you want a heart surgeon and team that provide the best possible care. You want that team to have the greatest skill, the best equipment and the most compassion. At Condell Heart Center, you get all three.

Condell's team is led by Dr. Philip Faraci, a distinguished surgeon who has performed more than 10,000 heart operations. Along with his technical skill, he brings healing compassion to every patient, a quality he has instilled in every member of his team. Together, they have the experience and expertise to help Lake County families become heart-healthy.

Rte. 53 'or either' self-defeating ploy

Like a broken record, proposals for Rte. 53 have been spinning for a long time. This summer, prompted by a study group funded by the state and the tollway authority, the spinning has reached virtually a fever pitch with just about every elective body and chamber of commerce weighing in with an opinion, mostly in favor.

That's not surprising at all, claim opponents of the controversial highway project, considering the efforts of a well-paid public relations consultant group. The PR effort has been manifested through Citizens to Protect Quality of Life Through Better Transportation which operates out of a post office box in Libertyville.

The Citizens even ginned up a petition signing at Great Lakes Naval Training Center on the Rte. 53 issue during the July 4 holiday weekend, announcing a 99 percent approval. Wonder what Citizens would have discovered passing the petitions at Hollywood and Vine?

Rte. 53 opponents, and they are substantial, we hasten to add, have accused the study group of using bullying tactics, especially the way an alternative was framed using St. Mary's Rd. as part of an alternative including upgrading routes 83, 45, 12, 21 and the Tri-State Tollway. County Board Rep. Sandy Cole (R-Grayslake) described the "either or" option approach as a "nasty threat."

At the risk of an impasse fomented by the "either or" mentality, a compromise is in order. Let the Rte. 53 debate continue spinning, but for heavens sake, start upgrading the existing highway corridors so we can get some gridlock relief.

Villages embrace pride of pathways

Few civic improvements have caught the public fancy as the construction of hiking and biking pathways. Local governments in our locality continue to build more and more pathways because citizens love them.

Interest in pathway construction was kindled almost two decades ago by the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. Since then the district has spent freely in developing a wide-spread system of paths. One of the best examples of the district's path construction program is the DesPlaines River Trail running the length of the county. Many of the county's forest preserves have all-weather paths for year-round use by joggers, bikers, serious runners and recreational strollers of all ages. Pet lovers are especially fond of the paths.

Most of Lake County's villages have pathway construction programs well along the way or on the drawing boards. The Village of Grayslake is typical, embracing an aggressive construction program that eventually will tie in all subdivisions with paths. To their credit, planners understand and push the purpose of pathways—providing cost-effective, open space avenues that are recreation and fitness orientated. The highly creative nature of pathway design is exemplified by the old North Shore Railway right-of-way that was turned into a public path benefitting Libertyville and Mundelein residents.

Antioch is the latest municipality to espouse pathway construction with a crosstown sidewalk and bike path that will emphasize safety. The 2.5 mile path connecting east and west sides of the village will be completed before the first snowfall. Commenting on the initial step into path building, Antioch Mayor Marilyn Shineflug captured the essence of pathways: "Creating a sense of community by providing better access between schools, the Metra station, parks and the downtown area." Well said. Mayor Shineflug also noted that Antioch's first serious path has the potential of linking with a future county path.

Pathways are lifelines for community living. They define not only our suburban lifestyle, but exemplify a significant side of our values.

Pulling out a handful of dollar bills to pay for lottery tickets, Eddie cheerful exclaimed, "Gotta help the schools." He got me wondering about how much the Illinois Lottery helps schools. So I checked.

Eddie isn't alone in justifying a yen for chance as an Illinois Lottery regular. Making a contribution toward education probably is the single most popular justification for inveterate lottery players. Sounds much better than "got an itch to get rich" or "my old lady plays bingo. I got my thing."

Politicians sold the idea of paying for education with the lottery when the state got further in the gambling business in 1974. But that was a lot of flimfoolery. Politicians had to pass a law in 1985 to make sure some of the lottery income landed in the Common School Fund. Before the 1985 law, leftover lottery money was fair game for the pols.

Today, approximately 36 cents of every $1 played in the lottery winds up in the school coffers. Based on 1998 figures, that amounted to $560 million, little more than a drop in the bucket (3.9 per cent) considering Illinois spent $14.3 billion that year on education.

Lottery officials consider this significant, but they point out that lottery income never was intended to be a primary source of funding for the schools. Did citizens misunderstand or is that what the people wanted to hear?

Just for the record, 54 cents of the lottery dollar ($853 million) went to winners. Figures for 1998 showed $105 million or 6 cents out of the lottery dollar was paid to businesses that sell lottery tickets. Illinois, by the way, has one of the most generous bonus systems in the nation.

A cool $60 million (4 cents per lottery dollar) went to salaries, advertising and telecommunications. State officials claim the Illinois Lottery is one of the most cost-efficient and profitable lotteries in the world. OK. Even with relatives of politicians glomming on to lottery jobs or getting paid for those silly television commercials hyping the lottery.

Every wonder where all that betting money would go without legalized gambling? Maybe into illegal gambling. But if the lottery and other forms of gambling were illegal, maybe then the crooks wouldn't have to sell drugs to make a dishonest dollar.

Back 'home'

Rear Adm. David P. Polatty III returned to familiar territory in assuming command of Great Lakes Naval Training Center last Saturday. The third generation naval officer resided at Great Lakes as a youngster and attended St. Mary's School, Lake Forest.

When he enlisted in 1966 he took recruit training at Great Lakes. In remarks at the colorful change of command ceremony, Adm. Polatty said he'll stress career opportunities and champion diversity. "I want sailors to stay in the Navy," he declared. The Polattys are in their fourth generation of naval service. Son David is a Navy lieutenant. The new Great Lakes commanding officer and his wife, Nancy, have a new grandson, Jake, two months old who probably is ticketed to become the fifth generation Polatty to serve in the Navy.

Browsers welcome

Ray Koehler, who operates a floral and art business with his wife, Betty, have hit on a clever way to cope with browsers, the bane of retail merchants. They started the "Just Looking Club." Membership, which is immediate, entitles the holder to a 10 per cent discount, valid for the day issued. Browsers get a kick out of the gimmick and some of them turn into buyers. "It works," says Ray. The Koehler shop, Art n' Blooms, is located on Center St., Grayslake.

Lots of trees

Libertyville Township is on a tree-planting binge. Since 1997, the township has planted 400 trees. Prospects are bright for another 100 hardwood plantings this fall. Supervisor Mike Graham says a 50-year-old tree is worth $196,000 in environmental pluses. Where does Graham get figures like this? Mike has been called a lot of things over the years. Tree hugger?

Ryan tickets

Tickets are going fast for the 12th Keith Ryan Scholarship Fund and Sports Banquet Thursday, Sept. 28, at Midlane Country Club. The event, originally sparked by former Zion auto dealer John "Big John" Miller, always features a sports luminary as keynote speaker. Star this year will be Mark Giangreco, WLS-TV sports anchor. Nine Lake County sports greats also will be inducted into the Lake County High School Sports Hall of Fame. Tickets at $35 each can be obtained by calling Bill Devore at the College of Lake County Foundation office 543-2488. Don't wait.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Cyber porn will be downfall of U. S.

Cyber porn has reached perverted levels beyond all imagination. Worse than Sodom and Gomorrah could ever have been.

Children can see tons of free samples by just answering yes to, "Are you 18?" on the screen.

It's like putting beer machines on every street corner. No one to check ID's. No one to enforce the law. Just a sign that says you must be 18 to buy. It's crazy.

Internet providers are guilty of gross negligence. At the very least they are violating anti-display laws. Parents should try to sue the providers under the Victims of Pornography act passed by Congress a few years ago. It was law suits that brought the tobacco industry to its knees. Football games can be blacked out in different cities. Why couldn't the Internet be blocked out so not to transgress the different community standards of porn?

The issue is not individual rights. But it is rights of the communities to prevent the breeding of Ted Bundys that will walk their streets and stalk innocent victims and pollute their tranquil environment.

We have the drug and alcohol agency. Why can't we have a communications decency agency? The states could create an elected office of obscenity judge. Being elected, his mandate would be the community standards of porn for that State. He could be given powers to issue orders, levy fines, etc.—

Should Congress re-write the First Amendment in simple third grade English so that even a Supreme Court Judge could interpret it?

Pull out of the stock market decent folks. America is due for a wake-up call.

Standing by Ryan

I have been reading with interest a series of letters published by this newspaper and others, written by those who claim to be conservative Republicans including a recent one by fellow Lake Forester, Republican committeeman Grant Noble. These authors all seem to be clamoring for the heads of Governor George Ryan and Lake County Republican Chairman John Schulien.

Grant Noble in particular calls Schulien the "Clown Prince of Lake County Politics" because he did not immediately cave into the demands of only two of the 18 Lake County Republican Township Chairmen that Ryan resign from the Illinois Bush Campaign. Noble's name calling cannot mask his extremist views that represent a tiny minority of Republicans in this county. Sad to say, two Democrats were elected to represent Lake Forest in Springfield during Schulien's watch. Grant Noble's backyard no less. Yet Noble ne-

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

New Crane pros know priorities

Addition of two new political staff professionals is propelling Congressman Phil Crane (8th-Ill.) forward in his quest for re-election, securing a House GOP majority, helping elect a Republican president and ascend to the chairmanship of the House Ways and Means Committee.

While having their boss in a key chairmanship would be a dream come true, Crane's new chief of staff Ted E. Schelenski and communications director Bryce Dustman are quick to point out that strategizing for Ways and Means is "irrelevant" without reelection and maintaining a GOP majority.

That's why the veteran congressman has been putting extra effort into helping elect Republicans to Congress. Schelenski, who came to Crane's office after a successful career in business where he concentrated on legislative liaison, and Dustman, who formerly was on the staff of U.S. Sen. John Ashcroft of Missouri, said Crane has his priorities correct.

Schelenski is a native of Chicago, growing up on the south side and mentored in politics by the well known conservative Republican Congressman Ed Derwinski. Dustman, skilled in multi-media, grew up in a family of farmers in Missouri.

Caught

Spotted at a Mundelein eatery were powerhouses from both sides of the political aisle. Seen plotting over dinner were Republicans Norm and Virginia Geary, Mike Graham, Carol Calabrese, Suzi Schmidt, Millie Corder, and John Reindl along with Democrats Mary Ellen Vanderventer, John Balen and Linda Hess. What were they talking about? Party Lines informant didn't get close enough to hear, but conversation wasn't about the weather.

Election planner

Colleen Conarchy has taken a leader-

Vanderventer:
"Uncle Sam"
sans the beard.

Crane:
Staff's fortunes rise with boss'.

ship role in elections planning in the County Clerk's office. Conarchy already has a firm grip on the fall election. Her big challenge will be coordinating Lake County's consolidated election next April 3, the "something for everyone" election. There will be balloting for village, township and school elective offices, plus other units of government and referenda issues. That's when Colleen will earn her pay.

Guest speaker

Loleta Diddrickson, former Illinois comptroller who was sidetracked for another state-wide office, is keeping in the public eye. Diddrickson will be guest speaker Wednesday, Aug. 23 at a Flatlanders, Lincolnshire, reception honoring Nancy Flouret, candidate for state representative from the 60th Dist.

Same title

Phil Rovang, nearing his first anniversary as director of the Lake County Dept. of Planning, Building and Zoning, continues to marvel at how similar the problems he faces are to his former position in Carroll County, Md., in suburban Baltimore. Purchasing development rights from farmers, a new concept to Lake County, was perfected in Carroll County. Rovang, a native of Iowa whose professional career includes a stint with the City of Davenport, has had the same title on his last three jobs.

Double duty

Mark Kirk is booking as many events as possible where he can talk up Republicanism and his own campaign for Congress at the same time. Sept. 8 he'll be guest speaker at a 10th Dist. women's luncheon and Sept. 14, Kirk has been booked as the keynote at the Libertyville Township Republican Club's Fall Forum dinner.

No beard

That petite Uncle Sam you see marching in parades from now to election day likely will be Recorder of Deeds Mary Ellen Vanderventer on the campaign trail. Vanderventer dons red, white and blue regularly for public appearances. The popular Democrat draws the line on a white beard.

Promoted

During a change of command ceremony last Saturday at Great Lakes Naval Training Center, State Rep. Susan Garrett (D-Lake Forest) was referred to as "Senator" Garrett when political dignitaries were mentioned. When last Party Lines checked, Garrett still was running for re-election. No stepping on the toes of State Sen. Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills).

Lots of runners

Reports are becoming more frequent that the Waukegan mayoral primary in February will be a marathon. Lots of runners. Independent activist Newt Finn, who's run for mayor himself in the past is searching for a candidate to challenge the Republican and Democratic aspirants.

More celebrities in the Bush camp

In a recent column, I listed a flock of celebrities who are lending their names, and often their talents, to get the Democratic Party nominee, Al Gore, elected president. To name a few: singing legend Barbra Streisand and actors Whoopi Goldberg, Mary Steenburgen and Ted Danson.

I also mentioned several who are backing the Republican nominee, George W. Bush. To name a few: Charlton Heston, Clint Eastwood, Tony Danza and Arnold Schwarzenegger.

It seems to me that every four years the majority of show-biz folks prefer the Democratic candidate.

Maybe yes, maybe no, says my personal guru in matters of government and politics. He's another fellow named Jerry, a really smart retired history teacher, and he presented me this week with a longer list of celebrities who are in the George W. Bush camp:

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

- Actress Bo Derek, maybe more than just a bimbo and sex symbol?
- Actor Rick Schroder of TV's "NYPD Blue."
- Actor Bruce Willis.
- Television sportscaster Jim Nantz.
- Miss America of 1995, Heather Whitestone McCallum, the first deaf Miss America.
- Ben Stein, the wealthy actor and host of the delightful game show, "Win Ben Stein's Money." Come to recall, he was sitting with George H. and Barbara Bush at Republican National Convention, and years ago he was a speech writer and lawyer for Richard Nixon.

—Chuck Norris, the martial artist and actor.

—Professional wrestler "The Rock."

—Former San Francisco 49ers football star Steve Young.

—Country singers Loretta Lynn, Larry Gatlin, Hank Williams Jr., and the dynamic duo, Brooks and Dunn.

Many of the above participated in the Republican convention in Philadelphia. Quite an impressive slice of American life.

Lorrie Morgan, another country superstar, sang the National Anthem.

"The country-western music industry is heavily conservative," says my friend Jerry. Yes, Nashville, Tenn., the country music capital, is Al Gore's hometown but "Dubya" Bush, as he is nicknamed, is a Texan, the home of the Cowboys!

One of the most amusing talks at the Republican convention, not reported in all daily newspapers, was delivered by George W. Bush's younger brother, Jeb Bush, the governor of Florida.

Jeb said that he "and perhaps the governor of Texas, are the only people here who have had their mouths washed out by the greatest, most popular woman in the world," meaning his mom.

"And been spanked by a president of the United States," meaning, of course, his dad. "And gotten a wedgie from the next president of the United States," meaning his older brother.

Speaking of the Oval Office, you have to love this quote from former White House intern Monica Lewinsky to a national magazine, on her troubles meeting men:

"Can you imagine having to introduce Monica Lewinsky to your family?"

Signs of the times:
Outside the priests' garage doors behind St. Peter's church in Antioch: "Thou Shalt Not Park."

On the front door of a downtown store: "Free ride in a police car if you shoplift from this store."

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES
MAKING HEADLINES
THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

New high school a possibility

Grayslake—Looking toward the future, Superintendent/Principal Dr. Elizabeth McDonald said a second high school may be needed as early as 2003.

Future enrollment figures have been right on target, she said, noting that for fall 2000, the study expected 1,710 students to be enrolled at the high school. The actual figures at the time of McDonald's presentation for this fall showed 1,785 students to be attending the school.

With projected enrollment of 2,134 at the school by fall of 2003, the school will exceed its recommended capacity of 2,100, McDonald told board members. "We need to look at certainly by fall 2004—target for having a second campus open," she said.

Logan pleads guilty to reckless homicide

Gurnee—Robert V. Logan pleaded guilty to reckless homicide in Lake County Juvenile court.

The charge stemmed from an accident on Rte. 21 between Grand Ave. and Washington St. In that accident, A.G. Hancock, a senior at Warren Township High School, was killed and 25-year-old Kenosha, Wis. resident Laura Herald was seriously injured.

Logan was sentenced to probation until he is 21. He was also ordered to spend 100 hours lecturing other high school students on the dangers of reckless driving. Associate Judge Joseph Waldeck told Logan he would spend five years in prison if he is convicted of another crime before he is 21.

Tree clearing in Volo irks neighbors

Fox Lake—Dee Frost and the Grant Township Territory Association share a similar complaint about how the land for Home Depot is being treated.

They do not appreciate the wholesale cutting of trees, that they say represents a renegeing of a promise made by Home Depot and lack of preparation by the Village of Volo.

According to Nippersink Road neighbor Dee Frost and others, Home Depot took three weeks or less to clear its site of trees. GTTA members say plans show only a few trees will be saved.

Plan commission denies sports complex

Libertyville—The Libertyville Plan Commission voted in a 2-2 tie, denying a request to recommend a 48-acre sports complex at the northeast corner of Rte. 45 and Peterson Rd.

At an estimated cost of $7.5 million, the proposed facility still must be voted upon by the village board, which will have the final say on the matter.

The village board had already committed no more than $105,000 to Equity One Development, in order to study the feasibility of the plan. Three members of the seven-member plan commission were absent from the hearing, which made matters difficult for Equity One, since four positive votes were required in order to receive a positive recommendation.

Senior housing up to voters

Wauconda—Wauconda voters will be able to vote on a proposed senior citizen housing complex.

The Village of Wauconda will ask voters permission to authorize a $6 million referendum.

The project, known as Liberty Arms, would be self-funded through rents and tax credits. The site is six acres of village-owned land off Larkdale Rd.

"We have a final set of drawings from Varga and Associates. That does not mean there cannot be any changes. We have met with banks about tax credits. But with tax credits, from the state or federal government, would not guarantee control by Wauconda," said Mayor James Eschenbauch.

Board supports Rte. 53

Lindenhurst—At a regular meeting of the Lindenhurst board of trustees, after a presentation from Peter Harmet, Deputy Project Manager of the Lake County Transportation Improvement Project, the board voted unanimously to support the extension of Rte. 53 from its current termination at Lake-Cook Rd. to the proposed termination at Rte. 120.

The vote was immediately followed by one to pass a resolution that Rte. 53 should be a freeway, as opposed to a toll way. The vote was, again, unanimous to approve the resolution.

LETTERS

glects to mention that during Schullen's tenure, the important elections of Corinne Wood as Lieutenant Governor and Peter Fitzgerald as United States Senator. and the candidacies of Bob Churchill and Al Salvi for statewide offices. This dramatic expansion of influence of Lake County Republicans beyond our borders during Schullen's watch is quite an accomplishment for a so-called "clown prince."

Yes, in Lake Forest we now have two one-term Democrats, Senator Link and Representative Garrett, representing us in Springfield. Yet with two excellent Republican candidates in Greg Kazarian and Cesilie Price running against them, it begs the question, will Noble support them or will he remain mired in a fog over his principles to the point where Democrats will continue to represent him in Springfield? Schullen, in the meantime, is strongly supporting these fine candidates. Noble in contrast, seems rather apathetic about them.

Back in 1968, "liberal" Democrats created their own extremist litmus tests. Only "liberals" could call themselves Democrats and they would routinely mock and withhold their support of all other Democrats who did not agree with every single thing they demanded. The end result caused many to leave the Democratic party nationally and turn Republican. The Democrats suffered for years over the antics of their extremists.

Now in 2000, we Republicans have extremists like Noble, creating their own extremist litmus tests, and mocking and withholding support of fellow Republicans. And like true "clown princes," these extremists are unable to see the potential consequences of their actions.

A & M Oriental Mart

Nathan is a young entrepreneur. He came up with the idea for the store last year in 1999.

Their current store has video rentals, PNB, phone cards, Balik Bayan boxes, and take out catering. The store also features fresh food and vegetables, fresh - frozen fish/shrimp, canned and packaged foods.

Nathan's store has a wonderful selection of groceries. Planning to further add to it, decoration plans are in the works to make the storefront look like a Philippine Grocery Store. They now have Chinese Egg Plant.

When you enter the mart, you will hear songs sung in the Philippine language. The T.V. is usually on with video tapes from the Philippines or the TFC Philippine Channel.

Their store also is a drop off point for PNB National Bank. You can certainly find all of what you need here. It's one stop shopping. Like the famous American General McArthur once said, "I shall return". A & M Oriental is a one stop shopping Philippine Mart which you shall return to time & time again. Stop by and say hi to Nathan.

Gallagher to perform

Gallagher has the distinction of being the first real star to come out of cable television. Being one of the most thoroughly calculating performers in the world of entertainment, her writes all of his own material. He is a keen and original observer of human nature and the American "scene." Gallagher's humor makes people think. "I want people to look more closely at this country and their lives to see the humor and absurdity in it all!" Gallagher says, "I don't have to make it up, the truth is funny

Antique farm machinery exhibit

Milk appears in plastic bottles and bread in plastic wrapped loaves. It wasn't always that way. Take a step back in time and visit the farm of our grandparents. See the machinery that helped take the backbreaking labor out of chores while you listen to the putt-click-rattle-rattle of ancient gasoline powered water pumps, grain mills, wood saws, washing machines, lathes, lighting plants and a host of other interesting restored and operating tools. Watch the blacksmith, woodwright, machinist, farmer and other trade workers as they demonstrate chores and skills of the past.

We're located south of the cattle barns.

Stop by, say "howdy" and linger with the memories of bygone days while you share them with your young ones. It's always cool inside our big tent and there are plenty of places to sit down and reunite with old friends.

This year we'll feature a display of the complete line of 4-wheel vehicles made by Midget Motors of Athens, Ohio.

A hands-on demonstration for kids will let them make a length of rope on an antique rope making machine.

For information on viewing or contributing to this exhibit call Glenn Anderson 262-862-2412, E-mail: andy@tech-headnet.com.

R.E.O Speedwagon set to perform

Since the release of R.E.O. Speedwagon's first record in 1971 the band that started out in a rented Chevy station wagon, playing bars across America, has produced seventeen critically acclaimed albums, scored thirteen Top 40 singles (including two billboards #1's) and sold over forty-million records. They have packed concert halls from Peoria to San Francisco to New Orleans to New York to Toronto to Tokyo. They played music alongside Bill Clinton during the final swing of his successful 1996 presidential campaign—The Band has plenty of Rock and Roll stories to tell.

Their most popular songs are: Keep on Loving You, Take It On The Run, Till The Rivers Run Dry, and Just For You.

You won't want to miss the classic rock group R.E.O. Speedwagon, Friday, Aug. 18 at 8 p.m.

an illegal meeting."

Calabresa told those present that there was apparently some kind of mix-up in communications between her and staff.

"I'll be checking personally in the future to make sure all (public) notices go out," she stated.

Marks and Spellman quickly left the scene after it became apparent that a majority of quorum was present. Cole followed soon after when Lake Forest officials berated her for refusing to discuss her committee's motion to change original plans to run the trail along the west side of the river.

"I am only here to view the proposed trail site. This is an illegal meeting and I will not discuss business with you," Cole told the group.

Apparently, forest preserve commissioners on the development committee "strongly" felt that part of the original trail proposal came too close to a "globally significant" natural area that includes high-quality black earth and the federally threatened Eastern Prairie Fringe Orchid. During its August meeting to approve the start of bid processes for the original proposal, committee members unanimously voted to approve a motion to relocate part of the trail to the east side of the river. Westerman said the motion was based on recommendations by the Illinois Dept. of Natural Resources and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Cole and Westerman believe they were "set-up" in an attempt to persuade them to change their minds about relocating the trail.

Calabresa denied the charges saying, "There was no intention of a set-up. Initially, we wanted to have Sandy and Al look at the trail site, but then other commissioners wanted to come along and we knew with that many meeting in one place a public notice would have to go out. It's truly unfortunate that it didn't."

Calabresa went on to say that she did not know how Kerr, Garrett or the residents got wind of the meeting, particularly without public notice.

Although the Lake Forest residents noted that the proximity of the eastern trail to some 12 homes was of some concern, they admitted they felt the development committee's motion bothered them more.

twice the seating. The atmosphere is not quite as cozy as the downtown spot, but Scholz noted the decor would be nurtured along by her husband Mike who owns a small construction business.

His creative hands not only designed and constructed the glass cases that house the coffee shop's yummy treats. Scholz revealed that her husband also designed and writes the chalkboard menus that prominently display the wide variety of enticing offerings including gourmet coffees, soups and sandwiches. To top things off, Mike's is the hand behind the icing that decorates made-to-order cakes at the

"Knowing full well that this decision would cause controversy, it should have been discussed openly with the city of Lake Forest and its residents," stated Mayor Kerr who noted that Lake Forest had earlier written to the forest preserve requesting to be part of any decisions pertaining to the trail.

downtown location.

While her husband makes sure everything is working properly, Scholz runs from store to store to make sure the business end of things is going well.

"I have to work on my business as well as in my business," commented Scholz who averages 16-18 hours per day on her feet. "I really like to put myself into it, and I am very picky. But when you stop being picky everything tends to slack off."

Scholz, who is originally from Chicago, began her food service career in the gourmet deli of Treasure Island on Lake Shore Drive in downtown Chicago. It was here that she learned how to cater and prepare gourmet foods.

ambassador to the community. He watched 70,000 recruits pass through Great Lakes during his tour," observed the Navy's education and training chief.

Adm. Polatty said his grandfather started a family tradition of Navy service before World War I. He said he intends to stress career opportunities and push the Navy's diversity goals.

His new command involves an installation

 WE DO NOT KNOWINGLY ACCEPT ADS FOR ANIMALS IN OUR FREE/GIVE AWAY COLUMN.
 If you must give up your pet, please consider these facts:

*Free animal ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value.
 *Some people who respond to these free animal ads are not reputable and are more concerned about making a profit than the animal.
 *Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. For more information, please contact the Humane Society.

Career Clipboard Notes

Why Don't I like My Job? (Making work more joy filled)

In 1987 I started a new job with a small consulting company. Two friends of mine had invested everything they owned to get the company started. One of these owners (Let's call him Bob) confided in me that his home, both cars and his wives wedding rings (one ring had a stone the size of a small eastern state) were mortgaged. You can probably understand the pressure he was under.

Bob would get horrible headaches several times per week. The type of headache where just having the lights on would cause pain. He worked long hours in a dim office and would have to take short naps throughout the workday.

Out of concern I asked him if this new company was really worth the toll it was taking on him. His eyes got wide, he sat up in his chair and his voice raised about an octave. For the next hour he proceeded to tell me how much fun he was having and how much he enjoyed what he was doing. Bob talked about how the risk was fun, how he enjoyed mentoring the people he had hired, and how much he enjoyed ringing the bell outside his office each time a new order came in. He was talking about twice as fast as he normally talked so I knew he was excited.

From this conversation, I learned that each of us can make our job enjoyable. Although that may seem impossible at times, Bob told me that he had never had a job that wasn't enjoyable. Now, one might ask how that is possible, especially in an environment where only 2% of the people in America enjoy their jobs (according to a psychology professor at Marquette University)?

Each of us makes a choice every day! If you want to enjoy your job here are some things you can do to start the change.

- Try random acts of kindness. Take someone you don't know to lunch just to get to know him or her. Bring in donuts for your work team. Hug someone who is having a rough day.
- Help someone who is having a problem with his or her job.
- Send a thank you card to someone who has helped you. Or send a "thinking of you" note to someone in the office you haven't had a chance to work with for awhile.
- Find something on your job that is difficult and challenge yourself to do better in that area.
- Compliment someone who has done a good job. It works even better if the job was only good and not great.

One of the things that Bob taught me is that most of his enjoyment came from serving others, especially those that other people would not serve. Try these techniques and see how you will enjoy your job more.

Please bring multiple copies of your resume!

Currently, we are seeking the following professionals:

Organic Synthesis Operators

The individuals we seek will operate processing equipment to manufacture pharmaceuticals and work with fermentors, reactors, filter presses, dryers, centrifuges and similar equipment. Operators start as trainees, are promoted to operator when qualified, and progress to senior operator as their skills mature. Both 8 hour and 12 hour shifts are available. Most openings are on 2nd or 3rd shift. While not guaranteed, overtime is usually available. Math and written communication skills are important. A strong mechanical aptitude is highly desirable. Prior knowledge of basic chemistry would be helpful. (Ad Code: 2K-JRS1405)

Biotechnology Operators

Working in teams in a sterile environment, Operators will manufacture Abbott's highly effective product that selectively dissolves blood clots. This process involves media preparation, culturing cells, monitoring growth, as well as harvesting and refining the resulting pharmaceuticals. Candidates start as trainees, are promoted to operator when qualified and progress to senior operator as their skills mature. Various shift openings are available with most being on 2nd or 3rd shift. Math and written communication skills are required. A mechanical aptitude is highly desirable as is prior experience working with biotech materials. Prior knowledge of biology would be helpful. (Ad Code: 2K-JRS2176)

Abbott Laboratories offers opportunities for personal and professional advancement. If unable to attend, please respond online at: www.abbott.com and enter an Ad Code from above. ## Pet OF THE WEEK

FRANKIE

Frankie is a very gentle and happy samoyed. He is 5 yrs old and was adopted from the Northern Samoyed Rescue Group. We have had him in our family for 3 yrs and just love him. Samoyeds are a wonderful breed for families but do require alot of brushing for their fur (Frankie had a buzz for the summer)!

Kick Flipping Boards

*Skateboarders across the county are finding sympathizers in unlikely places
—on village and park district boards*

In a small courtyard in Grayslake, an almost un-noticeable municipal sign stands slightly hidden behind the branches of a tree.

Beyond that sign, a group of teens ride skateboards over the brick-paved surface. The teens then take to the small stage that is in the center of the park. But instead of playing music or putting on a short play, the group performs with their boards. Taking turns, they leap from the side of the stage on their skateboards and try to pull off tricks in mid-air.

The sign at the entrance of the courtyard, the sign that reads "No Skateboarding," is ignored.

About a mile away from the park, more kids jump on their skateboards or strap on rollerblades to conquer more obstacles at a skate park built by the Grayslake Park District.

Meanwhile, it is almost time for Ramp, Rail & Roll, an indoor skate park in Mundelein, to open its doors. Outside, 10-20 kids, wait somewhat impatiently, helmets and pads strapped on, skateboards in hand.

Skateboarding is becoming more and more popular. What used to be an activity stereotypically reserved for the neighborhood punks, the bad seeds who no mother or father would want their children associating with, is now appealing to people of all ages and backgrounds.

Jeff Cleveland, the owner of Ramp, Rail & Roll, said that this rise in popularity is due in part to events like the X-Games—an Olympics-like contest where athletes compete in various skateboarding, in-line skating and BMX biking events. The X-Games are nationally televised on ABC and ESPN and have helped to bring underground sports to the mainstream.

But the immediate appeal of something these kids see on television is not the only thing that keeps the kids coming back to Cleveland's park and other parks across the county.

"These kids spend weeks and months just to learn one new trick," Cleveland said.

"Every new little trick they learn gives them a great feeling of accomplishment."

Cleveland said the sport is growing in popularity at an exponential rate. He has enthusiasts ranging in ages from 5 to 50 come in and use his park, which is the largest indoor skate park in the state.

In villages and townships across the county, various municipalities are opening their arms to skateboarders. Skate parks have opened in many villages, including Vernon Hills and Grayslake. Another park is under construction at the Warren Township Center.

Parks like these have also given local enthusiasts new opportunities and places to skate.

Donny Mahlmeister, a 26-year-old Libertyville resident, has been skateboarding on and off for the past 12 years. When he was younger, he would get in trouble with the police for skateboarding in bank parking lots and other public areas. Now with the Vernon Hills skate park so close to his home, Mahlmeister has found a renewed interest in the sport.

"When I was younger, we all wanted a place to go, but nobody would build [a skate park]," he said. "Now there's skate parks all over. It's great. I wish they would have done this 10 years ago."

At the Vernon Hills park he frequents, there is a half pipe, a street course, quarter pipes and a "fun box." The quarter pipe is a standard vertical ramp. A half pipe is made up of two quarter pipes that face each other. The street course simulates obstacles that a skate-

VACATION IN YOUR OWN BACKYARD

The menopause generation: Some like it hot

Don't look now, but our boomer bloomers are starting to wrinkle. That's "baby boomers," of course, generally stated to be those of us born during the post war period of 1946 to 1964. Considering the population explosion we represent, it's obvious that our parents didn't learn much from song lyrics like "I should have danced all night..." In case you're wondering, I used the words "our," "we" and "us" because:

1. I can spell them, and
2. I am, without question, a boomer. My birthdate puts me pretty near smack dab in the boomin' middle, a fitting position when you consider I was a middle child who is middle class, middle-aged and living in the middle of the country. (Also, my cooking is middle-of-the-road.)

Anyway, like it or not, we are aging, my friends, and because we represent such a huge population segment, that fact is big news. Statisticians and economic types have begun issuing dire warnings of the societal and financial changes that may occur as baby boomer concerns shift from peace, love and "I Can't Get No Satisfaction" to Geritol, Viagra and "I Can't Get No Regularity."

While I don't think it's quite the end of the world or anything, I agree that it's good to think about such things and be prepared. And while we're at it, we might as well prepare for another big "change" that's going to affect our lives. Mark my words—this may just become the hottest topic of this decade...and I mean that literally:

Menopause.

Heaven knows it has never been much of a topic before. Most of us can't remember our own mothers ever mentioning it.

Well, the silence is about to end. You don't really think that we of the "let it all hang out" generation are going to keep our hot flashes to ourselves, did you? Of course we're not! And, we can't help but become a huge cultural influence—the world will soon have

LIFE'S A BEAR

more menopausal women than they'll have desk fans to cool them. Here are just a few of the changes I see happening:

1. Oprah, our most powerful female boomer (born the same year as me), will change those special segments of her show from "Change Your Life" and "Remembering Your Spirit" to "Change Your Mood" and "Remembering Your Name."
2. A no-brainer: desk fan sales will go through the roof. In designer colors, of course.
3. Mood rings will make a comeback. Men will buy them for their wives in order to keep tabs on their mood swings ("Uh oh...her ring turned black. Think I'll go clean out the garage.")
4. The best-selling book "Who Moved My Cheese?" will be outsold by "Who Turned Up the Thermostat?"
5. Animated gag toys will continue to be popular. The next big hit, bigger even than Big Mouth Billy Bass, will be the Hugh Hefner Talking Head. When you punch him in the nose, he'll say, "I love middle-aged women. They are soooo hot!"

One change I think we should make right away is to lose that phrase "going through the change." It always reminded me of something that happened in a Lon Chaney movie. I mean, okay, we might end up with a few extra chin hairs to pluck after menopause, but we're not talking total transformation. Yet, that's how doctors once thought of it, as evidenced by this quote I discovered on a menopause website, taken from an 1887 neurological textbook:

"The ovaries, after long years of service, have not the ability of retiring in graceful old age, but become irritated, transmit these irritations to the abdominal ganglia, which in turn transmit the irritation to the brain producing disturbances in the cerebral tissue exhibiting themselves in extreme nervousness or in an outburst of actual insanity."

Hot flashes, mood swings, difficulty concentrating, depression, headache, memory loss and, sometimes, even a feeling of insects crawling across the skin (note: in Illinois, we call that last symptom "summer").

"Insanity" is not among the symptoms. Sure we may have mood swings and memory loss, but it's just temporary. "Mental-pause," I like to call it.

By the way, the reason I feel comfortable joking about menopause is because I suspect I have already joined the club. It's easy to join, in case you're interested. You just have to know the passwords:

"Is it hot in here, or is it just me?"

boarder might find on the average street, including hand rails, jumps and ramps. The "fun box" is a cube with ramps coming from each side and a rail on the top.

This variety of obstacles gives skaters like Mahlmeister a place to practice their skills without running into trouble.

But while communities are trying to give skateboarders a place to go, they are still prohibiting them from riding on the streets.

In Antioch, a group of skateboarders appeared before the village board to ask how they could skate without getting into trouble. A local ordinance states that "no person shall at anytime operate or ride a skateboard on any public or private road or public or private parking lot, nor shall any person ride skateboard [in the downtown area]." A spokesman from the Antioch police department said that skateboarding is allowed on the sidewalks in residential areas.

"This is a safety issue," said Antioch Mayor Marilyn Shineflugg. "Years ago, we had a lot of complaints from people coming out of stores and running into skateboarders. It's a general practice to have this sort of ordinance."

The prevalence of this type of law is what caused so many entities to build skate parks. Cleveland decided to open Ramp, Rail & Roll because his son told him about the troubles skateboarders and in-line skaters were having with the law.

"My son brought it to my attention," Cleveland said. "The police were chasing them out of everywhere and they had no place to go. Now they can go someplace where they won't get into trouble and that is supervised."

The facilities at the Ramp, Rail and Roll indoor extreme skate park in Mundelein were used during a demonstration given by Canadian skateboarding professionals.—Photo by Sandy Bressner

The Antioch police said that the ticket for illegal skateboarding comes with a $25-$500 fine. However, they only issue the tickets to repeat offenders.

At the village board, Shineflugg said the teens were asked to come back with a petition and the board would look into changing the law or possibly building a skate park. So far, the village has not received a petition.

In Lindenhurst, getting signatures on a skate park petition was no problem. When a group of teens went before Lindenhurst Park District Commissioners to ask for a skate/BMX park, they had over 300 signatures that were collected in a matter of days.

Although there was some concern expressed by a small number of residents about developing an open park, Executive Director Tom Lippert said the village has been overwhelmingly in favor of building the park.

"Right now, there is this need to have someplace for the kids to go," Lippert said. "The closest place to go to skate now is Grayslake. The closest place to go for a BMX trail is Wilmont, Wis."

As for the sport itself, Lippert believes that if it gets people outside and involved, it is a good thing.

"If I see people out appreciating the park, I'm happy," he said.

'Pledge to Ride' set for Aug. 27

Fund-raiser to benefit Lambs Farm

The "Pledge to Ride", an 80 mile motorcycle ride through McHenry, Lake and Kenosha Counties, will take place on Sunday, August 27, beginning at 9:30 a.m. This is an opportunity to drive along some of the best riding country roads in the area. Hosted by Lambs Farm, the pledge ride will raise funds to benefit the 250 people of Lambs Farm with developmental disabilities.

The minimum pledge is $25 per bike and each entry will receive a ride packet and $5 in coupons to be used toward food, drink and beer. There will be awards for riders and passengers with pledges totaling over $200. The awards for total pledges will be given as follows: $200-$299, a $50 Savings Bond; over $300, a $100 Savings Bond and for the largest total in pledges, a $500 Savings Bond. There will be prizes for correct observations.

After the ride, enjoy live music from 1-4 p.m. by World Class Noise. Food, beer and fun plus access to all of Lambs Farm is included. Visit the Petting Zoo, train rides, restaurant and more.

To obtain a pledge packet, e-mail Lambs Farm at LambSRide@aol.com or request a packet by mail at LambSRide, P.O. Box 520, Libertyville, IL 60048. Send your e-mail address to be entered into a special drawing.

This event is sponsored by the Lake Shore HOG chapter and the Lake Shore Harley Davidson. Located at Rte. 176 and I-94, Libertyville. Lambs Farm is a non-profit organization.

A member of the group, A Spiritual Journey Percussion Ensemble, entertains a young zoo goer at Brookfield Zoo's Rhythm & Roots festival.

Grant Park filled with Latin sounds

The 12th annual "Viva! Chicago" Latin Music Festival will take place in Grant Park on Saturday, August 26 and Sunday, August 27 from 11 a.m. until 9:30 p.m. both days. Viva! Chicago is presented by the Mayor's Office of Special Events and WSNS-TV/Channel 44/Telemundo.

This year's festival promises to be as exciting as ever. It's Viva! Chicago's goal to offer Chicagoans Latin music from around the globe, music that represents sounds of combos, norteñas, tropical, merengue, salsa, ballads, ranchero and of course mariachi. Headliners include the sounds of Huracanes del Norte, Cachao, Grupo Mateo's, Melina Leon and Papo Lucca y La Sonora Ponceña.

In addition to great music, traditional food items will also be offered. Local merchants will also vend authentic articles of Hispanic origins, including those from The Americas and The Caribbean. Items will include clothing and jewelry. There will also be arts & crafts activities for children at the LaSalle Bank Kids Oasis, including mask making and mask painting.

For more information about the 12th Annual Viva! Chicago Latin Music Festival, please contact the Mayor's Office of Special Events Hotline at (312) 744-3370.

Rhythm & Roots Festival at Brookfield Zoo

Don't miss your last chance to catch Brookfield Zoo's unique cultural adventure. The Rhythm & Roots Festival continues every Friday-Sunday, through August 27, from 12-4 p.m. During the summer-long festival, the zoo will come alive with music, dance and fun activities for the entire family as American Airlines helps to highlight the cultures celebrated in some of the zoo's most popular exhibits—The Swamp, Seven Seas Dolphinarium, The Living Coast, Habitat Africa! The Forest and The Savannah and The Fragile Kingdom.

During the weekend of Aug. 11-13, guests can enjoy the diverse music from South America and the central African savannahs and rain forests as Brookfield Zoo highlights its Habitat Africa! The Forest and The Living Coast exhibits.

At The Living Coast Plaza, guests can enjoy the distinct sounds of various entertainers and musicians through-out the event.

The final weekends of the Rhythm & Roots Festival, August 18-20 and 25-27, guests can "journey" to the white beaches of the Caribbean with musical sounds of tropical steel drums and sizzling Latin Jazz, plus a mind vacation to the "Cajun" bayous of Louisiana as the zoo highlights its Seven Seas Dolphinarium and The Swamp exhibits.

Activities are free with regular zoo admission: $7 for adults and $3.50 for children ages 3-11 and seniors 65 and over. Children 2 and under are free. Parking is $4. For more information, call Brookfield Zoo at (708) 485-0263, ext. 879, or visit the zoo's new web site at www.brookfieldzoo.org.

SPECIAL EVENT

Arun Gandhi to speak at Chicago Children's Museum

'Face to Face' exhibit makes children aware of discrimination and prejudice in today's society

When Chicago Children's Museum first launched Face to Face: Dealing with Prejudice and Discrimination in 1995, it became a pioneer in the field of helping children identify prejudice and develop constructive tools to respond to it.

As the museum prepares to launch the newly recreated Face to Face exhibit, the importance of educating America's youth about hate and exclusion is as important now as it was then. According to a recent study of American students, 69% of Asian students have experienced racial prejudice, as compared with 61% of blacks, 47% Hispanics and 39% of whites. Beyond issues of race, students continue to face exclusion based on such traits as religion, gender and sexual orientation.

"We can help put a stop to hate and prejudice by empowering children to change their lives and be more sensitive to those lives they touch," says Darchelle Garner, vice president of education and community services at Chicago Children's Museum. Face to Face helps children understand what it feels like to be excluded and gives them tools to control these difficult situations."

At Chicago Children's Museums' grand opening celebration for Face to Face on August 23 from 5:30 - 7:30 p.m., Arun Gandhi shares his personal struggle with racial intolerance in South Africa and how the teachings of his grandfather, India's late spiritual leader Mohandes K. "Mahatma" Gandhi, changed his life.

New research shows reaching young children with the message of tolerance, like the one Gandhi received from Mohandes Gandhi, is crucial. Children's attitudes about race are set by the age of nine, experts say.

The newly recreated exhibit reaches out to a younger audience than the original exhibit and encourages caregivers and children to talk about issues such as stereotyping, name-calling, exclusion and self-identity.

Chicago Children's Museum first opened Face to Face: Dealing with Prejudice and Discrimination five years ago amid a storm of controversy. The exhibit earned praise from many and scorn from a few for its straightforward attempt to educate America's youth about prejudice and discrimination. The traveling version of "Face to Face" has toured to four cities and is scheduled to go to 10 more.

"Face to Face" is a truly unique exhibition in the realm of children's museums. There are no other exhibits specifically for kids that address this subject so directly, acknowledging the day-to-day reality of these issues and providing practical tools for dealing with them," says Evan Finamore, the exhibit's main developer.

The opening celebration is a family event that features Arun Gandhi's speech, a performance by The Happiness Club and related art activities for children. It is free of charge. To RSVP, the general public is asked to call (312) 464-8246. A special book-signing event follows the opening at 7:30 p.m. in the museum's store.

The Museum is located at 700 East Grand Avenue on Chicago's Navy Pier. It is open seven days a week from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. and Thursday evenings from 5-8 p.m. Admission is $6.50 per person and free on LaSalle Bank Free Family Night each Thursday evening. For more museum information call, (312) 527-1000 or visit our web site at www.chicchildrensmuseum.org.

THEATRE

Reader's Theatre

PM&L's next Reader's Theatre presentation, "Every Good Boy Deserves a Favour" by Tom Stoppard and directed by Fran Jansta, will be given at the PM&L Theatre, 877 Main St. in Antioch on Sunday, August 20 at 2:30 p.m.

The play takes place in a Russian mental institution and is about two patients—one who is mentally unstable and one who is a political prisoner. It is a very serious subject but has humor and uses music to help the plot unfold. It was written in 1978 and is a very challenging work to perform.

Actors include Fran and John Jansta, Trish Zabrauskas, Dee Baum, Josh St. John and Jay Aufman, all from Antioch.

The play lasts approximately one hour after which the audience can talk with the actors and enjoy refreshments. Admission is free and no reservations are needed. For further information, call 838-1032.

Theatre seeks technical help

Bowen Park Theatre and Opera Company is seeking Lighting Designers for 2000-2001 productions. All performances are held in Goodfellow Hall in the Jack Benny Center for the Arts in Waukegan. There will be pay for these positions. Please send a resume to BPTO Company, Attn. Rik Covalinski, Jack Benny Center for the Arts, 39 Jack Benny Dr., Waukegan, IL 60087.

The theatre is also seeking a Stage Manager and Costume Designer for an upcoming production of "Romeo and Juliet," directed by Maggie Speer. The play will be performed for three weekends in September at the Waukegan theatre. These are paid positions. Send resumes as soon as possible to Maggie Speer, 1639 W. Estes, Chicago, IL 60626.

AUDITIONS

Audition workshop

"How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying" has been scheduled at Highland Park Players' fall production. An Audition Skills Workshop will be held from 7-10 p.m., Wednesday, August 23 at West Ridge Center, 636 Ridge Road, Highland Park. Registration and a $10 fee will be taken at the door.

The focus will be on how to audition with confidence, prepare for "cold" readings, demonstrate singing and dancing ability, and other general audition skills. No advance registration.

Open auditions will be held on Sunday, August 27 (12:30 a.m.-3 p.m.) and Monday, August 28 (7-10 p.m.) for its November production. Callbacks will be scheduled on August 30 if needed. Actors should prepare a song from the show and be prepared to learn a brief dance routine. They will also be asked to do a cold reading from the script.

This is a large cast with a variety of roles available for all. A rehearsal schedule will be posted and actors must be aware of any calendar conflicts. Performances will take place November 3-5 and 10-12. No advance registration is required. For further information, call 604-4771.

Theatre auditions held

Northbrook Repertory Theatre is holding auditions for their fall production of "Veronica's Room." The auditions are by appointment only on August 22 and 23 at 7 p.m. Each appointment will take approximately ten minutes. Please prepare two contrasting monologues of two minutes each. Several scenes from the script will also be read.

There are parts for two men and two women—one male and one female in their early 20's and one male and one female in their 60's. Each role requires a Boston and an Irish accent.

Rehearsals begin August 27 and are held on Sunday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Performances will be held on Friday and Saturday evenings. The final show will be on Saturday, Oct. 28. There is rehearsal and performance pay.

For more information or to make an appointment, call 291-2367.

Auditions for Orchestra

The North Suburban Symphony will start auditions for orchestra membership at their first rehearsal on August 31. The Symphony is a community volunteer orchestra rehearsing and performing in Lake Forest.

There are string positions, French horn and other wind seats open. Please consider joining them for their 2000-01 season. Call Art Price at 362-0813 for further details.

Pike River Rendezvous returns to Poerio Park

Travel back to the late 1700s and early 1800s when Native Americans and European traders called "Kenozia" home at the third Annual Pike River Rendezvous at Poerio Park. Return to the days of the trappers and traders on Saturday, August 26 from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. and Sunday, Aug. 27 from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. This is a free family event sponsored by the City of Kenosha Division of Parks and the Kenosha Public Museum.

In the late 1700s and early 1800s, a rendezvous was held so that trappers and traders could exchange their goods. Native Americans brought furs and provided services to the European fur traders who in return gave the Native Americans metal goods, weapons and ammunition, blankets, silver, beads and a variety of other European goods.

A period food and beverage concession has been added which will have meat pies, corn dogs, burgers and brats, snacks, fruit, cider, "sarsaparilla," and lemonade. The Kenosha Public Museum is sponsoring both the food concession and family activities. The family activities located around the Poerio Park pond include a period encampment with hands-on period trade goods, children's games, children's crafts, and fishing (practicing catch and release.) In the crafts area, children can make simulated straw hats, tri-corner hats and a pouch.

A horse-drawn wagon will shuttle visitors from the pond back to the encampment where costumed re-enactors will be living in more than 50 camps. In the encampment try corn grinding, sawing with a two-man saw, visit the "travelers' inn," or try archery activities.

Poerio Park is located on Kenosha's northside on 20th Ave. between Hwy E and 15th St. Parking is available at the Park or at Bose Elementary. For further information call (262) 653-4080 or (262) 653-4140.

tors." The group will consist of soloists, small vocal or music ensembles, dancers and others who prefer to "work behind the scenes."

The "Collaborators" are looking forward to invitations to perform for groups, clubs, corporate functions or fund-raisers. There will be no regularly scheduled rehearsal time.

Singers, dancers and musicians — whether they have worked with Traxler before, or not, are welcome to join the group. For further information, call 309-0049.

DANCE

Square Dance Club

The Buoy and Belles Square Dance Club will host the Three Little Fishes Dance with Lin Jarvis as caller on Friday, August 18. The Plus workshop will be held from 8-8:30 p.m. with Main Stream from 8:30-10:30 and the Plus Tip at 10:30. The cost is $3.50 per person.

The dance will be held at the First United Methodist Church, 128 N. Utica St., Waukegan. Use west parking lot, rear door, downstairs to Fellowship Hall. All modern western square dancers in the area are invited. Light refreshments will be served. For more information call 746-1461 or 244-2373.

LECTURE

Frank Lloyd Wright in Glencoe

The Frank Lloyd Wright Preservation Trust will sponsor "Frank Lloyd Wright in Glencoe: 1904-16," a presentation by Susan Solway, Ph.D., professor of Art History at the Barat College of Lake Forest, on Wednesday, August 23 at noon.

Frank Lloyd Wright put Oak Park on the map. But did you know that the third greatest concentration of Frank Lloyd Wright buildings in the world, after Oak Park and Chicago, is in the nearby suburb of Chicago? There Wright built no fewer than ten houses, three gate markers, and a bridge spanning a ravine; designed two waiting stations, one of which was built; a town hall, and numerous park ornaments and features. Join Dr. Solway for a look at this fascinating, but little known, chapter in Wright's famous career.

The lecture will be held at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago, 2nd floor auditorium, 280 S. Columbus Dr., Chicago. The lecture is free and begins at noon. For more information, call (708) 848-1976.

NATURE

Searching for shorebirds

Adults are invited to join the McHenry County Conservation District in the "Search for Shorebirds," on Sunday, August 20 from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m. at Glacial park in Ringwood. The program will discuss how to identify elusive shorebirds as they migrate. Bring binoculars and field guides to aid your research.

There will be hiking, so wear comfortable shoes that can get wet. To register or for more information, call Prairieview Education Center at 497-5779, Monday-Friday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

AIR SHOW

Set to soar

The 42nd Annual Chicago Air and Water Show, set for Saturday and Sunday, August 19-20, will bring aerobatic maneuvers of civilian and military aircraft and the Corona Extreme Water Show to Chicago's lakefront. Spectators can enjoy the show from Fullerton Ave. to Oak St., with North Ave. Beach as the focal point.

The event will kick off with The Corona Extreme Watershow at 10 a.m. both days featuring the Great Lakes Pro Freestyle Watercraft Invitational and the BAJA Offshore Boat Factory Shoot-out.

The U.S. Navy Blue Angels will spread their wings in a spectacular display of aerial acrobatics as they headline this year's air show.

For more information about The Chicago Air and Water Show contact the Mayor's Office of Special Events at (312) 744-3315, TTY (312) 744-2964, or visit www.cityofchicago.org/SpecialEvents.

BENEFIT

Golf Day to benefit disabled

The 16th Annual Golf Day to benefit Lambs Farm takes place on Monday, August 21. Golf enthusiasts are welcome to attend the event, held at the challenging Stonewall Orchard Golf Club, Grayslake. The cost per golfer is $500 with shotgun starts at both 8 a.m. and 1 p.m.

A spectacular day awaits golfers who will enjoy a gourmet lunch, golf contests with impressive prizes and a reception following the 18 holes of golf.

The support generated through this event is key to helping empower the more than 250 people of Lambs Farm with developmental disabilities.

Lambs Farm is a non-profit organization and donations are tax deductible to the extent allowed by law. Interested golfers may contact Lambs Farm at 362-4636, ext. 733 for more information.

WORKSHOP/CLASSES

Learn the art of improvisation

Improv Playhouse is now taking fall registration for classes in fundamental to advanced improvisation for both youth and adults. These classes help to develop many skills including communication, creativity, self-assurance and personal success.

Workshops and master classes are instructed at Dance Center North in Libertyville, the Highland Park Community House and Wayne Thomas School in Highland Park. Dance Connection in Grayslake will also host classes. The classes generally run for an eight-week period and meet once per week.

The first term adult class centers on ensemble building skills, foundational improvisation skills, self assurance on stage and in public and having fun learning to improv. Youth classes have been developed utilizing the same principles.

All classes are taught by professionals in the arts. Call the Improv Playhouse at 968-4529 for more information.

Art workshops for adults

The Kenosha Institute of Arts, 5000 Seventh Ave. in Kenosha, is offering a mixed media workshop for adults where various concepts will be explored as the student learns to combine multiple art forms. The workshop will be held on Tuesday and Thursday, August 22 and 24 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wet and dry media with drawing and painting, printmaking and collage techniques will be covered. The class is open to all levels of expertise.

'Coyote Ugly' entertains without Hollywood budget

I know what you're thinking, "Coyote Ugly" is a movie about a bunch of attractive women dancing on a bar, or it is the 2000 version of the Tom Cruise motion picture "Cocktail."

In a way, you're right. But then again, you're wrong. Coyote Ugly is similar in comparison to "Cocktail," but the up-and-coming cast of "Coyote," led by veteran actor John Goodman, carries the story-line well.

The movie highlights the artistic concept of "flair bartending" (the ability to flip bottles), which is always exciting to watch. The trade has been around for a long time, and it is finally starting to resurface in today's party business.

But when a movie showcases a portion of America's night life, it can be reviewed as a story about making a dream come true or be tossed into the teeth of "bandwagon" criticism.

To be honest, "Coyote Ugly," like every motion picture, has its peaks and valleys of entertainment, but is peppered with reality, sort of.

Coyote Ugly

Rating
PG-13

Director

Starring
Piper Perabo
Maria Bello

Melanie Lynskey
Adam Garcia

In the summer of multi-million dollar, special-effect "blockbusters," "Coyote Ugly" takes a different route—humanity.

This type of predictable story has been told before. A small town character moves into the big city to make a dream come true. But, if you can relate to the character in a form of experience and reality, the movie holds a little more meaning. Although the story line becomes juggled by director David McNally in the last quarter of the movie, the basis still stays the same...the courage to take a chance and follow a dream.

The main character, Violet Stanford (Piper Perabo) portrays the small-town girl who leaves friends, family, and home to pursue her music career. But, she quickly learns that in life, she is not the only person to follow the musical career path.

Broke, alone and about to give up on her dream, Violet overhears a conversation about the departure of bartender Zoe (Tyra Banks) from a place called Coyote Ugly. So, she locates the place, and finds herself in the company of the "community-celebrity" bartenders...flipping bottles and dancing on the bar.

As the movie progresses, some scenes become too mature for some viewers and not mature enough for others "Coyote Ugly" makes an effort to capture the emotions of love, regret, desire, hope and courage without the big "Hollywood" budget and soundtrack.

I applaud the attempt and admire the artistry of "flair bartending," but I wish the movie could be re-edited and have a budget to complete the story-line the way I'm sure it was intended.

Whether it's a famous painting like the "Mona Lisa" or a sculpture made from butter, this form of media art is to be judged with praise or mowed by the critics' wrecking ball. But after all, what do you expect from a movie about beautiful women in a modern-society environment?

I award Coyote Ugly 2 and 1/2 popcorn boxes.

Disney's The Kid

Disney's latest romp into fantasyland—"The Kid"—features Bruce Willis as his typical character: a crusty but benign someone named Russ who, through some unforeseen circumstance, rights his ways before it's too late. This film is fun and entertaining and should be seen by anyone who is in the 40-year-old range. Three and a half popcorn boxes. —Bob Warde

Mission: Impossible 2

It's amazing how utterly dissimilar "Mission: Impossible 2" is from the original, despite both featuring scripts by Robert Towne. Maybe it is John Woo makes all the difference. Woo is famous for his slow-motion action sequences, which are prevalent in "M:I 2."

The movie, starring Tom Cruise as secret agent Ethan Hunt, is filled with numerous action scenes including shoot-outs and motorcycle chases, which are some of the best action sequences ever seen. Four and a half popcorn boxes. —Rob Backus

Nutty Professor II: The Klumps

As with most sequels, the follow up to "The Nutty Professor" doesn't live up to the first film. Though Eddie Murphy does a fantastic job of portraying all five Klumps and Buddy Love, none of his personas has much to say that is worth hearing.

The film is rated PG-13 indicating that the humor should bend toward the adult side of things, but a majority of the jokes reference bodily, bathroom functions—the type of humor preferred by fourth grade boys.

That said, there are enough sight gags and jokes about anatomy and sex to make that same group of fourth grade boys blush. "Nutty Professor II: The Klumps" is ruder, cruder and not nearly as funny as its 1996 smash hit predecessor. One and one half popcorn boxes. —Julie Murphy

The Patriot

The rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air... Director Roland Emmerich has a new all-American classic with "The Patriot." Set in 1776, the story focuses on the trials of one South Carolina family, led by patriarch Benjamin Martin (wonderfully portrayed by Mel Gibson), during the American Revolution. The story goes much deeper than the war, as it tackles such issues as duty to country versus family, loyalty and trust. For the story and the wonderful actors who bring it to life. Four popcorn boxes. —Michelle Habrych

The Replacements

"The Replacements" is good fun for those eagerly awaiting the start of the football season. Coach Jimmy McGinty (Gene Hackman) goes the unconventional route to fill in striking players' positions and chooses unknowns to make up his team. This rag-tag bunch of guys makes for a fun couple of hours to watch. Three and a half popcorn boxes. —Michelle Habrych

Waukegan Symphony Orchestra fills music director position

After a two year search, the Waukegan Symphony Orchestra has announced the appointment of Stephen Blackwelder as the new Music Director of the Waukegan Symphony Orchestra. Superintendent of Cultural Arts of the Waukegan Park Dist., Dr. Lynn Schornick remarked that "Stephen Blackwelder brings a background of exceptional experiences to the Waukegan Symphony Orchestra. The search committee had many excellent choices. No one suits the music director position of the WSO better than Maestro Blackwelder. We look forward to many seasons of exceptional leadership from him."

A native of North Carolina, Blackwelder was the first graduate to receive a Bachelor of Music degree in conducting from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where he was awarded a special grant to present Cavalli's L'Ormino in a fully staged production. After moving to Chicago, he prepared university symphony concerts for Robert Marcellus and Benard Rubenstein, opera productions for Robert Gay and also conducted his own concerts with the Advanced Chamber Ensemble, all while completing his Masters Degree at Northwestern University.

Stephen Blackwelder has enjoyed an active and artistically diverse career since, at the age of 20, he was invited to conduct the Baltimore Symphony while assisting Eve Queler with a production of Così fan tutte. In his ten seasons as Music Director of the Hinsdale Chamber Orchestra he attracted and delighted audiences with fresh, innovative programming and an informal and appealing concert style.

The Waukegan Symphony Orchestra will kick off next season joined by the Waukegan Concert Chorus with a Pops concert featuring Victor Lanza on October 15. Call 360-4742 at the Jack Benny Center for the arts for tickets for information.

Midwest Bonsai Society presents annual show

The Midwest Bonsai Society will present its 23rd annual exhibit at the Chicago Botanic Garden, August 18 through 20. Hours are noon to 5 p.m. on Friday, August 18, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, August 19 and Sunday, August 20.

Staged throughout the Botanic Garden's Education Center and adjoining outdoor areas, the exhibit will include the display of 200 bonsai trees, designed by hobbyists from across the Midwest, and reflecting all types of bonsai. This year, trees styled by former Ladany Award winner Don Willkomm will be raffled during the exhibit.

The exhibit will feature demonstrations and workshops by internationally known bonsai masters. Continuous demonstrations and hands-on workshops will allow beginners and accomplished growers to learn more about bonsai from some of the world's finest experts.

Visitors can also enjoy the bonsai and other Japanese landscape features at the Botanic Garden's Japanese Island. Sansho-En, or "the garden of three islands," evokes a serenity and a harmony that in Japanese design express the essence of nature. With its carefully styled plants and judiciously placed stones, the garden is a tribute to the beauty of pure form. The Japanese Garden is located just east of the waterfall garden at the Botanic Garden.

Bonsai (pronounced bone-sigh) originated in far east Asia over a thousand years ago, flourishing in the gardens of China, and later Japan. For centuries, techniques were guarded secrets. The original bonsai specimens were trees growing on high craggy terrain which were naturally stunted by severe winds. They had sparse foliage with dramatic, twisting trunks, making them the envy of emperors. The art form began evolving when gardeners began cultivating that exotic, twisted dwarf look with techniques passed down over the centuries from one generation to the next.

Experts will be on hand at the Bonsai Exhibit to answer questions and explain the shaping process to visitors.

Enthusiastic beginners can get started at the show by visiting the special outdoor area which will be devoted to 12 vendors selling bonsai trees, raw nursery stock, pots, tools and supplies to meet the needs of both novices and experienced growers. Sale hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday, August 18 and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, August 19 and Sunday, August 20.

Educational lecture/demonstrations in the auditorium are always a special show attraction, offering beginners the opportunity to learn about bonsai culture and actually watch the shaping process. Demonstrations are $1; workshop are $50, plus the cost of materials. All exhibits are free.

The exhibit and vendor areas are open Friday, noon to 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Although admission is free to the show and Botanic Garden itself, there is a $7 per car parking fee. The Chicago Botanic Garden is located at 1000 Lake Cook Rd., Glencoe. For more information on the Midwest Bonsai Society Show, access the Society's web site at www.midwestbonsai.org or

MUSIC

Entertainment line-up

A live entertainment night club in Palatine is hosting a wide variety of...of course, live entertainment. Dirty Nellie's, 55 N. Bothwell, Palatine, proudly presents Irish/Folk on Sunday, August 20, 8 p.m.-12:30 a.m.; with no cover charge with Whitey O'Day (in the small room).

Dirty Nellie's kicks off the week on the tall end of the weekend. Every other Sunday the club will host an Open Jam (except on August 20) with various bands. An Open Mic night continues the fun every Monday with host Paul Allodi and guests.

Because of no live music scheduled for the summer, the club will be taking Tuesdays off from the entertainment avenue but will feature the sounds of Pop & Rock in the Keri Hoakie Lounge every Wednesday.

Thursday leads party subscribers into the weekend with Quantum Leap then various live entertainment will take the stage on Fridays and Saturdays.

For more information about the entertainment line-up and admission cost at Dirty Nellie's, call 358-9150.

ANTIQUES

Chicago O'Hare Show

The 25th Anniversary of its "Chicago O'Hare Summer Antiques Show & Sale" will be held August 18-20 at the Rosemont Convention Center, Rosemont.

With over 400 dealers from 38 states, plus Canada, Europe and Argentina, the O'Hare Antiques Show is the Midwest's largest quality antiques event and attracts thousands of collectors.

A single admission of $8 will allow access to all shows, and is good for re-entry all weekend. Children under 12 are admitted free. The Rosemont Convention Center is located a few miles from O'Hare Airport on River Rd. For more information, call Dolphin Promotions at (954) 563-6747 or (708) 366-2710.

HISTORY

Explore the life of 17th century French explorers

Drift back in time and become a Voyageur—a French explorer and fur trader. Experience firsthand the colorful history of Lake County as it was in the 1740s. The Sterling Lake Voyageurs program is on Sunday, August 20, from noon to 1:30 p.m., at Sterling Lake in Van Patten Woods Forest Preserve near Wadsworth.

The program is open to adults and families with children four years and older. The cost is $6 ($5 for Lake County residents) per person. Reservations and pre-payment are required.

For more information or to register, call the Lake County Forest Preserves at 968-3321.

Merchants offer sales, samples during Summer Days

Celebrate summer at Grayslake's Annual Summer Days Aug. 18-20 with a day of sidewalk sales in the downtown area.

Many merchants will place their wares out for a day of sidewalk sales Saturday from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Art 'N Blooms will feature pictures, books, candles, silk flower arrangements and more. Edward Jones will offer information on investments. Canine Clippers will sell pet supplies, as well as offer coupons during the pet and bike parade for a free nail clip.

Lake and Lodge Outfitters will have its cabin collectibles and rustic furniture. Next door Center Stage Dinettes will feature its furniture during the day of sidewalk sales, and across the street, Awesome Nails will give out one free acrylic nail to those who stop by throughout the day.

For a good deal on used books, stop by and see Pat at the Book Stop. The Summer Days special will be buy three books and get one free, all of equal or lesser value. Look for deals at Grayslake Pharmacy and Video Take Two as well.

The Cheshire Cat will offer its gifts and more during the sidewalk sale. Gifts will also be available for purchase at The Cottage House, which features candles and various home accessories. Lucy Q and Mommy Too will have clothing racks out on the sidewalk during the sale as well.

Interior Decisions will offer a sampling of new soups, coffees, dressings and dips. Classic Design Interiors at Peachtree will feature gift items and home accessories. National City Bank will have giveaways as well as its popcorn machine.

The Vintage Market, at the southwest corner of Lake and Center streets, will have its own outdoor market featuring antiques and collectibles.

The fun continues Sunday after the parade when Pik Kwik will host the Pepsi Wagon and have brats available for lunch. Owner Jim Doetsch noted that his store will also host the country-western band Easy Louise from 2-5 p.m. "We figured we'd just make it a whole party for the town," he said.

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20

You have to be patient when it comes to an important financial opportunity early in the week, Aries. Waiting for the right moment is key in this situation. Moving too soon will be a mistake. That special someone turns to you for career advice. Be honest, and do your best to guide him or her in the right direction.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

Keep your temper in check when a loved one gets you involved in a difficult situation. This person doesn't mean to cause you any problems; he or she has no idea how bad the matter really is. Just work together to set things straight. Leo plays an important role late in the week.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

You have an easy week ahead of you. If you work diligently on Monday and Tuesday, you'll have the rest of the week to yourself. Enjoy! Spend time with friends, and splurge a little. You deserve it. The person whom you've been seeing wants to intensify your relationship. Say yes, because you know that this is what you want too.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

Don't take your bad mood out on that special someone this week, Cancer. It's not his or her fault that you're feeling out of sorts. Instead of yelling, try talking with this person to figure out why you're feeling blue. He or she is always there for you. Remember that. A loved one needs your help with a problem. Do what you can.

Leo - July 23/August 23

Don't get angry with an acquaintance who makes an honest mistake, Leo. This person doesn't mean to cause you any harm. So, try to forget about it. A close friend shares a secret with you. While you're excited about the news you learn, keep it to yourself. It's not your place to spread it around.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

You're in the hot seat this week, Virgo, when a loved one blames you for a family problem. Don't get nasty when defending yourself. Just stay calm, and explain the situation. Everything will work out if you do. That special someone has a surprise for you late in the week. Enjoy!

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Try to avoid a family friend this week, Libra. He or she wants to get together with you to complain about a personal matter. There's nothing that you can do to help, and listening to this person only will aggravate you. So, don't make plans with him or her.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

Acknowledge a mistake that you make this week, Scorpio. You're sure to get caught if you try to cover it up. Just accept responsibility, and work to rectify the situation. Those involved will respect you for this. A loved one turns to you for financial advice. Give him or her your honest opinion.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

You really put your foot in your mouth when meeting an interesting person this week, Sagittarius. Try to explain what you really mean to say, and think before you say anything else. Too many verbal goofs will make you miss out on a golden opportunity with this person. Gemini plays an important role.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

An acquaintance reveals his or her true feelings for you. While you like this person, you don't feel quite the same way. So, let him or her down gently. A loved one turns to you in a time of need. Do what you can for him or her, and try to be supportive. Your efforts will be appreciated.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

Look at everything that is involved with a financial opportunity offered to you on Monday. Things seem too good to be true, and they are. If you examine it closely, you'll see that what you've been told just doesn't add up. That special someone has a surprise for you on Friday. Enjoy!

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

You receive an interesting letter from an old friend early in the week, Pisces. He or she wants something from you. Don't be too eager to say yes, because there's more here than meets the eye. Find out what it is. Virgo plays an important role.

BACK TO SCHOOL

August 18, 2000

Lakeland Newspapers / LAKELIFE 11

Parents: Need to know what's cool for back to school?

What's hot for kids 8-14

No longer tots but not quite teens, 27 million U.S. "tweens" (kids aged 8 to 14) will head back to school this fall, and - no surprise - they'll be looking to hit the books in style.

Like teens, tweens are a group known for their love of pop culture and all things cool - topics that can prove befuddling in the grown-up world. So, to give parents a hand in their back to school shopping, the school support company Shopforschool (www.shopforschool.com) informally quizzed a few tweens across the country to gather their opinions on what they want for the first day of class.

The group of 23 kids, dubbed the "Shopforschool Tween Team," hails from eight states and represents girls and boys entering grades three through nine. Many of the items they specified, including clothes, accessories and school supplies, can be purchased online from merchants featured on the Shopforschool.com Web site. When people shop online through www.shopforschool.com, a percentage of every purchase they make is donated to the K-12 school of their choice. All parents need to do is visit www.shopforschool.com, register their child's school and start shopping!

The Shopforschool Tween Team: GIRLS

- When it comes to shirtsleeves, 100 percent is just too much! The girls are going for 3/4 length sleeves this fall. A variety of 3/4 sleeved oxford shirts and sweaters can be found at gap.com. For younger girls, GUESSkids.com has an assortment of fun styles.

- Show your fashion "flare!" Overwhelmingly, the girls voted for flared pant-legs. JCPenney.com offers funky flares in both stonewashed and dark denim, and gap.com features flared corduroy pants in a variety of colors.

- It's time for fancy footwork! When asked about footwear, both clogs and fashion boots were shoe-ins for girls - and both can be found in a number of groovy styles at Delias.com. Funky sneakers, another popular choice, abound on Delias.com, as well. In addition, many of the girls want running shoes, which can be found in abundance at dsports.com and JCPenney.com.

- So long, matte make-up - these girls want glitter! Glitter make-up ranked right up there, along with earrings and beaded jewelry. For some shimmer while they study, girls might try glittery lip gloss and eye pencils from Delias.com, or Tony & Tina Cosmic Lights pure sparkling glitter - available in many hues

- at iBeauty.com. And many things bead-ed - from earrings to necklaces and bracelets - can be found at JCPenney.com and GUESSkids.com.

- Tween girls have fashion in the bag - and are opting for backpacks, messenger bags and purses to tote their books and goodies this fall. From canvas bags and purses to clear plastic backpacks and backpacks on wheels, eBags.com has something to suit every taste - and hundreds of styles to choose from. Fossil.com also offers an assortment of messenger bags and purses.

The Shopforschool Tween Team: BOYS

- Don't even think about going back to school without a sports jersey! Almost all of the boys voted sports jerseys as a hands-down, no contest, must-have item.

Dsports.com has an array of jerseys sporting logos from dozens of pro teams. Boys can complement their sports jerseys with a pair of ever-popular Nike athletic pants from JCPenney.com.

- Fleece vests, short-sleeved plaid shirts and convertible pants (pants with zip-off legs) all made the A-list for boys and are available at gap.com.

- Some things never go out of style! When it comes to shoes, these boys voted sneakers, running shoes, high-top tennis shoes and outdoorsy/athletic boots all the way. Both dsports.com and JCPenney.com have lots of footwear options to choose from.

- Who says guys don't dig accessories? Our tweens favor baseball caps (classic twill styles can be found at gap.com) and sport watches - check out Fossil.com! Sunglasses are important, too - and Fossil.com and Shades.com have styles that are such to catch some eyes!

H&R Block Tax Course Begins September 11

Thousands of people are learning the skill of income tax preparation from H&R Block and are training for careers as income tax preparers.

H&R Block, the world's largest tax preparation service, is offering an income tax course starting September 11, with morning, afternoon, and evening classes available. Classes will be offered at area locations.

During the 11-week course, in addition to learning the nuts and bolts of tax preparation, you will receive clear explanations of the ever-changing tax laws and how to use them to your advantage. You'll receive this information from some of the finest, most experienced tax preparation instructors in the country. And you'll have the opportunity to expand or enhance your job-related skills.

H&R Block designed this course to suit people who want to increase their tax knowledge and save money on taxes, or who are looking for training for a second career or seasonal employment. A tax-related career is perfect for students or retirees seeking part-time earnings.

Qualified students may be offered job interviews for positions with Block.* Many accept employment with Block because of the flexible hours available. However, Block is under no obligation to offer employment, nor are students under any obligation to accept employ-

One low course fee includes all textbooks, supplies and tax forms necessary for completion of the course. Certificates and 6.6 continuing education units will be awarded upon successful completion of the course.

Registration forms and a brochure for the income tax course may be obtained by contacting H&R Block.

For more information,
call 1-800-HRBLOCK
or visit our Web site at www.hrblock.com

*Enrollment in, or completion of, the course is neither an offer nor a guarantee of employment.

Decorating sense: Five quick and affordable tips to add style to the home

Are you a first-time home buyer decorating on a budget? Do you own an older home and want to decorate without losing the classic feeling of the house? Do you live in an apartment and are not free to make major changes to your decor? Every consumer wants to change the look of his or her living space, but often finds the process difficult, costly and time consuming.

Last year Americans spent millions of dollars on home furnishings products to enhance the appearance of their home decor. But you do not need to spend countless hours and your life savings to create a fashionable home. With a bit of creativity and the addition of a few new products, you can easily change the look of any room in your home. Greensboro, N.C.-based Burlington House, a leading manufacturer of home furnishings, including decorative bedding ensembles, window fashions, bath accessories and floor accents, offers easy ways for consumers to transform the look of their homes without "breaking the bank."

1. Create Bathroom Fashion On A Budget
Without going to the extent of re-wallpapering, re-tiling or putting a fresh coat of paint on the walls, you can update the look of your bathroom with the addition of a new bath ensemble. Many manufacturers offer ensembles that feature a shower curtain; bath, hand and tip towels; rug; and coordinating accessories including a tumbler, soap dish, toothbrush holder, lotion dispenser, tissue cover and wastebasket. The addition of a new bath ensemble will add contrast and color to a plain tiled bathroom. From trendy metallics to traditional florals, consumers are able to choose a design to fit their style.

2. Bedding Ensembles Transform Bedroom Into Sanctuary

The bedroom is fast becoming a sanctuary from the stress of everyday life. In fact, Americans will spend over half their lives in bed. Bedding ensembles combine unique patterns with innovative details to create a look that is both stylish and inviting. With the bed as the focal point of the room, you can change the look of the bedroom with the changing seasons or at your whim. The color and fabric of the ensemble can dictate the feel of the room. Soft colors will provide a light and airy feel to the room, while darker colors make the room warm and inviting. Moreover, if you have a bedroom/bath suite in your home, consider coordinating bed/bath ensembles offered by many manufacturers. These combinations tie the two rooms' decor together with one distinctive theme.

3. Windows Of Opportunity Open For Stylish Decorating

The dining room, living room, kitchen, office, family room and bedroom these are rooms we live in each day and share with family and friends. Details are important to give that special room the look and feel it deserves. Whether your personal style is formal or casual, traditional or contemporary, window fashions are a simple way to add a decorative touch to any room. Pair your favorite style and type of window fashions with functional, yet decorative hardware like rods, sashes or tiebacks to add your own personal flair. Choose patterns and colors that coordinate with, and complement those of the room's flooring, furniture and accessories such as throw pillows, candles and artwork.

4. Elevate The Floor To The Next Level
If you want to enhance hardwood floors, add warmth to a room or distinguish between an eating and sitting area, consider room size area rugs. Functional, durable and beautiful, the style choices offered are virtually limitless. Even if you have wall-to-wall carpeting, a room size area rug can add a new dimension to any room and create a distinctive look.

5. Accentuate The Home With Fresh Styles
Accent rugs do just that - accentuate the floor. Whether you are seeking comfort, color or character in the kitchen, protection around the fireplace, or a cozy addition to the bedroom, den or living room, an accent rug can transform the room with minimal effort or expense. Just as there are countless personal style preferences, there are countless accent rug sizes, shapes and styles, and new technology is enabling manufacturers to create rugs with sharper, brighter print definition, increased cushioning for a softer feel and ergonomic benefits, and improved stain resistance. In addition to an outside doormat, add an accent rug to the entryways of your home to create a warm and inviting feel. The accent rug will not only offer protection for your floors by providing an additional "walk-off area," but will also add a splash of color to complement your room's decor.

Redecorating does not always have to be a major undertaking. Before you enlist the help of a professional design specialist, check out what your local department store or specialty retailer has to offer.

Trees in danger during drought

Recent drought conditions throughout the country have created serious challenges for natural vegetation, including trees. For many regions of North America, particularly the South and West, a continuation of drought will put enormous stress on suburban trees. For a variety of reasons, trees in the forest are better able to withstand drought stress. Single trees isolated on a lawn or park are more susceptible to damage caused by a lack of natural rainfall.

The lack of rain showers and high temperatures is sure to create more hardships for trees. Water is required for all biological processes of plants and trees. When there is an adequate supply, water seeps down through the soil, gradually saturating each layer. Trees depend on water and moisture in the upper layers of soil — usually the top 6 to 12 inches where the root system is located.

Water that seeps beneath the upper layers eventually becomes available for use by people as well-water. In severe drought conditions, more water is required to keep the upper layers of soil moist.

The first signs of water stress in large shade trees is a flagging, or wilting of foliage. It can be difficult to notice. Next the leaves become "scorched" as they gradually curl, become dry at the edges and begin to die. Eventually, trees will drop their leaves in an attempt to "save" themselves. It is important to remember that defoliated trees are weakened, but not dead. Many of these trees will survive.

Apply 2 to 4 inches of mulch around trees. This conserves soil moisture and keeps soil temps cool. Water trees in the evenings. Lower temperatures result in less evaporation and better conservation of water. This means more water for the trees!
